LAND HO—Ray Scott steps out of the chilly waters of Lake Manitou at precisely 4:07 pm Monday at the Newby's Bay dock on Rockville Road just a few minutes shy of nine hours in the lake spent swimming the 19 kilometre distance from the Sandfield dock where he'd entered the water at 7:10 that morning.

Ray Scott enjoys a hot cup of tea after spending nine hours in the cold waters of Lake Manitou. The beverage had been prepared by his Aunt June Wilcox as a celebratory and salutary drink.

Tourism Association seeks partnerships to manage Manitoulin's top attractions

by Robin Burrige
MANITOULIN—Since the North-east Town council declined a request from the Manitoulin Tourism Association (MTA) to take over the responsibility of the Cup and Saucer Trail earlier this month, the MTA has changed its strategy and is now seeking partners to help manage the trail, in addition to other Island attractions such as the Mississagi Light-house.

"The most important thing for us (the MTA) is to figure out how the trail can thrive and survive," said MTA President Ron Berti. "In order to do that we need to be partnering with other interested parties such as Island municipalities to be able to bring the trail up to world class standards. We are hoping to establish a steering committee, consisting of several different partners, to oversee the trail and look at further development such as (more) signage and wash-rooms."

As for the Mississagi Light-house, "It needs similar work and upgrades," said Mr. Berti.

"Our first response is to see who is interested and capable of taking

A close encounter with the late Robin Williams

by Robin Burrige
MANITOULIN—Last Monday night Facebook was a flurry of news links and photos of Robin Williams following his tragic suicide at age 63. One Gore Bay couple shared a photo they had taken with Mr. Williams after meeting him at his 2009 standup show at Casino Rama, which quickly gained the attention of many Islanders. The Expositor contacted them this week to hear their memory of the famous comedian and actor.

"A couple years ago I bought my husband Denis tickets to see Robin Williams' stand up show at Casino Rama," explained Gore Bay resident Dawn Noble. "We went down for the night to see the show and afterwards, my husband and I had the opportunity to meet him."

Ray Scott completes 19 km Lake Manitou swim dedicated to MFR's Manitoulin commitment

by Lori Thompson
CENTRAL MANITOULIN—Ray Scott touched shore at 4:07 pm Monday, August 18, eight hours and fifty-seven minutes after setting out on this historic 19 km swim across Lake Manitou from Sandfield to Newby's Bay.

The swim had been scheduled for the previous Friday but the wind was very high in the narrows, causing four foot waves. That morning there were fresh challenges, with a 7:10 am start that was slightly later than planned, and a change in wind direction overnight that had forced a route reversal.

"I wanted to start here, in Newby's Bay," explained Mr. Scott. "It's a big long stretch. It would have been nice to get that out of the way first. The wind doesn't typically blow this way. All summer long it's blown from the west. Today it's from the east. That's one of the things I've learned. Nature won't adapt to you. You have to adapt."

Mr. Scott's wife, Anne Marie, and sons William and James were in the support boat, and three friends shared paddling duties while daughter Marjorie manned the phone lines at home. "This swim could not have happened without the crew that we have," he said. "Mark (Varey) from Tim-

Formal charges filed in court in multi arson case

Clinton Haggart remains in custody

GORE BAY—Clinton Gordon Haggart appeared before Gore Bay court on Thursday of last week, via teleconference from Sudbury, where he is currently in the district jail, having been denied bail for all of the seven counts of arson with which the 30-year-old has been charged following two months of terror in Little Current.

On Thursday, August 14 the following charges were read before the court: intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to personal property owned by Clinton Haggart, 25 Wilson Street East, Northeast Town, Ontario Aboriginal Housing Services, under Section 434.1 of the Criminal Code on June 13, 2014, and intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a dwelling

Clover Valley church asks community's help to recoup losses after devastating fire

by Alicia McCutcheon
CLOVER VALLEY—While the people of Little Current are dealing with the end result of five fires in a little over two months, the Deforge family of Clover Valley is also the recent victim of fire that tore through the Homeland Missions workshop/storage facility, a personal vehicle and destroyed two five-ton reefer trucks—a very crucial piece of the mission's puzzle that sees many people from across Manitoulin and the North Shore who are in need of a helping hand given just that.

Rodney Deforge, who heads Homeland Missions, said he woke up at approximately 1 am on Sunday, August 10 to an orange glow very visible through his bedroom window. When he ran to the window he saw that the storage shed was engulfed in flames. After evacuating his wife

Inaugural Wikwemikong justice conference explores the blending of traditional and western systems

WIKWEMIKONG—Earlier this month Wikwemikong hosted an inaugural Wikwemikong Justice Conference, introducing Wikwemikong's Peacemaker Justice Program while exploring and brainstorming different models that blend traditional and western principals and systems.

"In 2012 (Wikwemikong) Chief Duke Peltier created a justice portfolio and as a band councillor, it is an honour and privilege to have the responsibility to hold the justice portfolio for our community," said Gladys Wakegijig-King during the conference's opening remarks. Commemoration of a sister's murder raises awareness of issues of concern to all

by Isobel Harry
BIRCH ISLAND—Mag and Alex Cywink are the sister and brother of Sonya Nadine Mae Cywink, who was brutally murdered when she was 31-years-old. Since Sonya's body was found in the Southwold Earthworks, a "park-like space" 65 miles west of London, Ontario on August 30, 1994, Mag, Alex and their family have never lost hope that their sister's killer will be identified one day, perhaps apprehended and brought to justice.

"Ours was a big, social, extended family in Whitefish River (First Nation)," says Mag, "there were 13 children. Sonya was the twelfth, born August 19, 1963, and she was a beautiful child." The kids went to school in Espanola, "there was an emphasis by our parents on education. They wanted us to make life more than just Birch Island." But Sonya, traumatized in her early teens, dropped out, and at age 18 moved to Toronto where "she struggled with equilibrium," adds her sister, "and led a roller coaster life. The family tried to help, but Sonya's life took a bad turn—she became an addict."

Sonya's strong spirit rose to the challenge and she went into a London recovery program for two years, until 1992. These were years of hope that rehabilitation would turn things around for Sonya, but, as often happens, there was a relapse, "and she became what is called a sex trade worker,

Duke Peltier elected in landslide win as Wikwemikong chief

by Alicia McCutcheon
WIKWEMIKONG—With a decisive 738 out of 1,262 votes for Wikwemikong chief, Duke Peltier will again lead his community for another two year term. The other candidates for chief included Bernadine Francis with 274 votes, Gladys Wakegijig with 171 votes and Kenneth Jacko with 66 votes.

Elected to council for the 2014-2016 term are: Bernadine Francis (566), Tim Ominika (475), Lawrence Enosse (421), Margaret (Tish) Manitowabi (407), Dominic Beaudry (405), Maureen E. Trudeau Manitowabi (404), Lorraine Fox (390), Gladys Wakegijig (385), John James Dubé (378), Cecilia J. Pitawanakwat (O'Connor) (316), Robbie Shawana (305) and Agnes Kanasawe (296). Newcomers to this term of council are Tim Ominika, Dominic Beaudry, Robbie Shawana and Agnes Kanasawe.

The Expositor asked Chief Peltier for comment the Monday following his re-election.

He stated that there are a number of things begun by the last council, what he termed "foundation pieces," that he would like to see added upon.

Chief Duke Peltier, pictured at the 2014 Wikwemikong Powwow, was reelected this past weekend as chief of the community receiving a total of 738 votes out of 1,262.

He noted the Children's Bill of Rights passed last year, "a directive to our administration to place our children's needs at the forefront of each of our services, placing a strong focus on making sure they come first."

Chief Peltier also spoke of the Wikwemikong Constitution, passed in June. Council will begin creating new laws and ratifying the document, beginning with matrimonial real property. A first reading of this law was held in an open meeting of council in July. It is now before the community before it goes to a second reading, followed by more consultation, then a third and final reading after which it will be passed into law.

Northeast Town retenders public works rebuild after insurance company confusion

by Robin Burrridge
LITTLE CURRENT—The Northeast Town has retendered the project for the rebuilding of the municipal public works building (which burnt down this spring) after a confusing incident with the town's insurance company, AVIVA Insurance, last month.

The Northeast Town council held an emergency meeting in July, expressing their outrage when they learned that AVIVA Insurance had unofficially tendered for the town's project after stating that the amount quoted in the only bid received in the original tender process was 'above market rate.'

Due to this move by AVIVA the Northeast Town council passed the following motion: "Whereas the Town of Northeastern Manitoulin and the Islands tendered for the replacement of the municipal garage and received one response from Build North at $739,000; and whereas Mr. Don Watt of Specialized Property Evaluation Control Services Limited, a senior appraiser for AVIVA Insurance, maintained that the tender price received was above market rate; and whereas Mr. Watt provide the municipality with the following three prices: Robert Sheppard Construction Limited, $583,261; PROMUS, $976,496; and LARO Construction, $671,200; and whereas the tender documents and the procurement policy permits council to decline to accept the original tender, now therefore be it resolved that the council and the corporation of the Town of Northeastern Manitoulin and the Islands directs staff to retender for the replacement of the Little Current garage with all the costs associated with this process to be borne by AVIVA Insurance."

The Expositor contacted AVIVA Insurance for comment and requested an interview with Mr. Watt.

An AVIVA Canada spokesperson responded with an official statement from the company regarding the incident, however despite the request, an interview with Mr. Watt was not arranged.

"It is not our practice to discuss the specifics of individual claims publicly for privacy reasons," wrote an AVIVA Canada spokesperson in an email to The Expositor. "However, we can say that when a claim occurs, our priority is to provide the policyholder with peace of mind by managing all aspects of the claim and the necessary repairs. As with all claims where AVIVA is the lead insurer, we followed our usual and rigorous process for a claim of this size and nature."

"The first stage is a complete and thorough review of the damages," the statement continues. "From there, using the appropriate experts, a full scope document is prepared and reviewed by all stakeholders. The scope is then referred to selected vendors and tenders are requested. We then complete a comparison of the tenders to ensure that all items contained within the scope have been addressed. The last stage of the initial process is to review the bids with the policyholder and agree on which contractor is to be awarded the project. We take great care in selecting contractors and other suppliers for repairs and our decision is based not only on price but also on quality of work. Accordingly, AVIVA is pleased to provide a lifetime guarantee on the work performed by its preferred contractors."

"We are now going to have to retender because the AVIVA Insurance tender process was not valid," May-

Letters to the editor as gossip: a unique concept

Comments on last week’s editorial commentary in this space, ‘Gossip wrecks havoc in people’s lives with speculation,’ generally agreed with the principle the editorial supported (that gossip is hurtful to individuals and their families and the larger the topic, such as arson, the greater the damage) a particular unsigned letter was received by The Expositor Office which clearly took exception with the paper, and in particular its publisher, on that topic.

Virtually always, unsigned letters do not get any attention from this paper’s editor. Occasionally, if an unsigned letter has merit we have advertised for the writer to contact the paper and discuss signing it for publication. Sometimes there is a response, sometimes not.

The unsigned letter recently received, though, is instructive to examine as its criticism of the paper and publisher misses the point of letters to the editor and their important role in the democratic process.

The editorial staff thought this letter might be a good foil against which to examine the underlying principle of this kind of public forum.

The thrust of the short missive is summarized nicely in its second paragraph: “Rumours often begin with a letter to the editor. You regularly print letters by the Islands (sic) biggest gossips that hurt individuals in the community. You never investigate to see if there is any truth - you just give the gossips a platform.....over and over again!”

The final paragraph goes on to assert that “you (and the letter is personally addressed to the publisher) should feel shamefaced and you should keep it in your memory the next time you attack innocent people in our community through letters to the editor!”

While the paper has no idea of who did not sign this letter or what specific issue or issues he/she is referring to, he/she did get one thing right, if only by implication, and that is that the paper shares the responsibility with the writers for the letters’ contents.

That is precisely what makes the ‘letters to the editor’ forum such a useful and powerful place for ordinary people to comment on activities and events: their letter will be handled by a professional person who will often suggest changing the wording in such a way that the basic message is left intact but words that could be deemed libelous are eliminated.

Often, people pen letters to the editor in the heat of the moment or when they are angry. They leave it to the editor, then, to save them from themselves but they still have their say.

This fact, combined with the forum that a respected newspaper offers letter writers, gives people with something valid to say to the community and a safe place in which to say it.

People write letters to the editor for a variety of reasons: perhaps they’re angry or upset because they may feel that “their ox has been gored” or perhaps they simply have something to add to the general discussion on a current topic or perhaps their message is largely self serving.

In every situation, the test for the editor (as well as weeding out spelling mistakes and grammar clangors and libelous statements) in assessing a letter as suitable for publication is a simple one: “is this fair comment?”

“Fair comment” is the concept that whatever the writer’s motivation, including self interest, there is something he or she is suggesting in the letter that is of legitimate concern to the community as a whole, or certainly to some members of it, because it materially affects the interests of the community. Fair comment must be based on an honest expression of the writer’s real opinion and must not extend beyond matters of public concern (i.e. ‘Fair comment’ does not apply to a letter whose only motivation is easily recognized as self-interest although if the argument can be deemed to be useful to the larger community, which of course can include the writer, then it is ‘fair comment.’)

Sometimes, perhaps, once a year, when there is a question about whether ‘fair comment’ informs a particular letter the editor will discuss the matter with a specialist lawyer who may suggest changes that, if significant, are relayed to the letter writer.

The newspaper does not solicit letters to the editor, however it is not unusual for someone at the paper to say to a person hoping to have a story made out of his/her opinion on something or other, “you could write a letter to the editor about that.”

Often, letters are written in anger and offer opinions about people and institutions that aren’t printable as written and which also don’t fall into the category of ‘fair comment.’ In these cases the editor will often contact the writer and suggest they re-think what they wish to say in such a way that it has public merit. Sometimes, but not often, people will make a second, more reasoned effort but usually this doesn’t happen and so the letter of course goes unpublished. (Presumably, writing the original letter and venting their anger in this way has been a useful personal experience whether the letter sees publication or not.)

This paper carries a lot of letters to the editor. Sometimes a topic (such as wind turbines, pro or con) will be top of mind for enough people in the community to write many, many letters over several months debating the topic, adding to the dialogue and refuting others’ claims.

While some people find this becomes redundant when such a topic is publicly debated at length by ordinary Manitoulin citizens, it is also a way for the community to, collectively, vent its opinions on all sides of the topic. In very controversial situations, this paper has always felt it is providing a therapeutic service to the community where strongly held opinions can be expressed publicly in this way rather than remaining merely collective pent up anger. The paper’s letters space, then, can act as a community safety valve for emotionally-charged issues.

The letter below is a shining example that represents fair comment and also advances the discussion of an important community topic.

Letters to the editor are taken very seriously here and the paper is proud that people continually and routinely make use of this forum.

As for the claim by the anonymous letter writer that the paper, and in particular the publisher, purposely uses the letters space to mischievously foment gossip, that is the first time that such an accusation has been leveled against the paper or its publisher in his nearly half century of newspapering.

On the other hand, the receipt of the unsigned letter has given the paper this opportunity to share the process of editing others’ opinions expressed in this traditional way and explaining this useful community service.

Letter writer rebuts statements about Providence Bay Marina

Changes to the marina over the last three years have made Prov a better place to be

To the Expositor:

I was disappointed to read the recent letter to the editor called ‘Writer saddened by negative restrictions at Providence Bay dock’ (August 13). I would like to offer my opinion about the positive changes which have occurred in recent years at the Providence Bay Marina.

As a young woman who has spent her summers for the last 22 years in Providence Bay, and who has a family who has docked their boat at the marina for the past 16 years, I have seen many changes to the marina and the way that it has been run. Providence Bay has been my summer home for as long as I can remember, and the marina has been an integral part of growing up on Manitoulin Island.

I have yet to see a negative change, despite what others have suggested.

In the past three years, the Providence Bay Marina has been transformed. What was once just a building along the shoreline with a light and a few piers has been converted into a social hub where everyone is welcome. The building, which remained the same for most of my childhood, has been revived with new paint, new signs, and decor. The property of the marina has been well maintained, and many changes have been made to better facilitate the growing number of people who attend at the marina, for water sports, fishing, and just for visiting. The new addition of the deck off the front of the marina building boasts comfortable chairs, warm conversation, and a hot cup of coffee any time of the day. It is also a place that welcomes any person, young, old and in between to watch the sunset. The decorations, such as the old boat which has been moved around a couple of times, are comforting reminders of the past, tastefully placed for all to enjoy. The smaller additions, such as the flowerpots and pieces of limestone which line the parking lot, make the place feel kept and organized.

The organized parking allows for boat owners and slip renters to access their boats. It allows the families, some of whom have young children, to more easily load and unload their gear when participating in fishing and water sport activities. There have been many new spots added to the parking lot, facilitating parking for trucks with trailers, as well as making a safe environment with lots of room for people to launch their boats at the bottom of the hill. This is yet another positive change for the marina.

You are greeted by the dockmaster with a smile each time you arrive. He is knowledgeable, he is helpful, and he is always around when he is needed. His constant presence is comforting to the slip holders who leave their boats at the marina. He goes out of his way to take pictures of all of the fish that are brought into the marina—big or small. He also provides copies of these pictures as keepsakes for the fishermen and fisherwomen, as well as posting a board for the visitors to admire. If you’re lucky enough to catch a fish over 10 lbs, all nearby will know as the dock master rings his bell. Any fish over 20lbs gets the air horn—everyone in town can hear it! You are never made to feel that your catch is insignificant.

These new additions and changes to the marina are working. The slips that are available for boats to dock in on a seasonal basis are at full capacity this year. This means that there are many people traveling through Providence Bay, supporting our local businesses and shops. Not only that, but people are coming from all over the Island to launch their boats and remove them from the water on the same night, as there is no place to park them. While this has created some restrictions on fishing from some areas of the dock, it is really a function of the success of the marina. Nobody wants a triple hook in their canvass boat top. The end of the cement pier is always welcoming for anglers who want to cast a line and try their luck. This is something we should be thankful for, not complaining about.

Another event which has been created in the past three years has been the annual Providence Bay Fishing Derby. The derby has been so successful that the participation has had to be limited to allow for a reasonable number of entries. There just isn’t enough time to get the large number of interested participant boats in and out of the water. This is just another example of a positive change for the marina.

There have been many opinions expressed about the “loss” of the Providence Bay beach. It is my opinion that we have not lost any beach at all, rather we have gained water in our precious Great Lake. The water levels in Lake Huron have been so low for so long that we should be grateful and thankful to have gained back some of the inches that we have lost many years in a row.

I love Providence Bay. It is my home away from home, my utopia, my happy place. The Providence Bay Marina and the changes that have been instilled in the past three years have made the town of Providence Bay a better place to be.

There is nothing negative about that.

berlane. The paddlers, Craig Maxwell, Andre Leblanc, and Mark Gibault. My family. In fact, anybody I've talked to was very supportive. When I put the crew together, I was thinking I needed to try and surround myself with the best people, best talent. That's not just true for this swim but for anything in life."

"The waves were a little rough at the beginning," said Ms. Scott. "It was difficult to manoeuvre the boat."

"The waves were more irritating than anything," explained Mr. Scott, "but I trained in waves. I trained whether the waves were there or not. I don't think you can over-condition for long distance swims. It's hard to train here. We don't have a pool locally. I'd go to Espanola but that's a long way to go for one hour in a lane. The water here has been so cold I actually drove to Sudbury a couple of times."

Training for the swim was crucial, but Mr. Scott has no idea how many hours he trained or how many kilometres he swam in preparation for this marathon. "You can't just wake up one morning and do it," he said.

He praised Jackie White of Manitowaning for her coaching. "I couldn't have done this without Jackie. She shaved incredible amounts of time off my swim. Well, I put the time in but I couldn't have done it without her guidance."

Ms. White refused to take credit. "He's a good student," she said.

Ms. Scott maintained contact with Ms. White, who couldn't be there, throughout the swim. "She was really the one doing the coaching, she told me what to do. She's awesome, a very good swimming coach."

Keeping his strength up through water and nutrition breaks was important, and Ms. Scott was the whistle blower. "Every 15 minutes I'd blow the whistle for a water break, and every 30 minutes or so for nutrition." Mr. Scott used power gels to obtain the calories he needed to swim the long distance in cold water.

The temperature of Lake Manitou was only 15°C, which forced Mr. Scott to wear his wetsuit. He hadn't used the wetsuit in training and figures this was a contributing factor to the pain in his left shoulder. "I was pretty sore the last four kilometres," he said, "my left shoulder was pretty sore. The wind blew me along a bit but it was hard slogging when the wind was against us."

The support team wasn't overly concerned until the last two kilometres. He wasn't always using his left arm and was zigzagging instead of swimming in a straight line. "It was hard to watch him," said Ms. Scott. "One thing that really impressed me is how Andre is very skilled in a canoe. He was able to shepherd Ray when he was zigzagging."

"Having the kind of expert paddlers we had with the wind we had made all the difference. I don't know if just anybody would have been able to keep everything on course the way they did. I knew they were the best around," Mr. Scott said. "It would have been impossible for me to finish without my paddlers. When you're in the water you can't even see, not landmarks, not anything. Mark Gibault was wearing a white hat; halfway through the swim that's all I could see."

Apart from their expertise in keeping him on course, Mr. Scott appreciated that connection they provided. It helped "just knowing there was someone there with you."

Ray Scott was followed closely by his support team during his marathon swim. He's seen here nearing the dock at Newby's Bay on Monday afternoon, nine hours after entering the frigid Lake Manitou waters.

He also appreciated the support he has received from the greater community. "There are a lot of people from my church and people from around the Island praying for me," he said. "Every half hour someone was praying for me. In the weeks leading up to the swim people were praying and, frankly, my training went better. I don't know if other athletes want to mix sports and religion, but it's working for me."

In addition to raising funds for Manitoulin Family Resources (www.rayscrazyswim.ca/mfr:html for information and how to donate), Mr. Scott is hoping to generate interest in marathon swimming. "I'm hoping that now that I've done this it will generate interest and other people will swim it. There's a lot of really great swimmers in the region, more talented than I'll ever be. They may find the idea attractive. It's a good swim for a marathon. The water is clean and clear. In other summers it's probably warmer."

However, there are no other lakes in his immediate future. "I don't have any plans to do any more marathon swims. I'm looking forward to doing more musical pursuits. Training takes a lot of time. Swimming isn't my first love, but it just felt like this was the right summer to jump in with both feet."

Son James perhaps sums it up best: "Whatever he sets his mind to do, he does. And he has to have something to do. I don't know what he's going to do next, but it will be something."

August 23 Hwy 6 traffic interruption

The UCCM Anishnaabe Police are advising the public that passage of motor vehicles at Highway 6 through Whitefish River First Nation will be interrupted for a brief period of time from 6 to approximately 6:15 pm on August 23.

A Solidarity Walk for Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women is taking place during that time in honour of Sonya Nadine Mae Cywink. Ms. Cywink was murdered near London, Ontario 20 years ago. This murder remains unsolved. Ms. Cywink was a member of the Whitefish River First Nation Community.

Traffic will be stopped in both directions of Highway 6 to allow the participants to conduct the walk down the 200-metre section of the highway within the village. The procession should take approximately 15 minutes.

Hawewater charges and calls for service ‘way down’ from 2013

During the Civic holiday weekend, from Friday, August 1 to Monday, August 4, Manitoulin Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) was busy responding to calls for service.

Over the three-day weekend, OPP responded to 110 calls for service, reports Constable Allan Boyd, community services officer with the Manitoulin OPP.

“The Civic holiday weekend is our busiest time of the year and with the amount of people attending the Island, this reflects the needs for police assistance and response,” Constable Boyd said. “Out of the 149 calls Island-wide, 110 were in the Little Current area during the Hawewater Weekend festivities, which is a decrease of 88 calls for service from 2013. Hawewater draws crowds of upwards to 5,000 to 10,000 people with all the great events that weekend has to offer. With this amount of people the calls for service definitely increases from the rest of the year; however I am pleased to report that no major incidents took place and we had no alcohol related motor vehicle collisions.”

S/Sgt. Kevin Webb, detachment commander for the Manitoulin OPP, thanked the organizers from the Little Current Lions Club and all the volunteers with the Hawewater event. “Their efforts made this Hawewater Weekend a success. I am pleased that we had no disturbance at any of the venues this year. The OPP was out last year and this year in full force and no breaks were given. Strict enforcement has paid off making this Hawewater Weekend a quiet and safe one. We will be ready for next year too.”

The following charges were laid over the weekend:

Highway Traffic Act - 25 charges (down 23 from 2013)

Criminal Code Charges - 12 charges (up 1 from 2013)

Controlled Drug and Substance Act - 2 charges (down 2 from 2013)

Liquor Licence Act - 52 charges (up 5 from 2013)

Three-day Licence Suspension Road Side Device - 1 suspension (up 1 from 2013)

The following is a break down for criminal calls for service:

Unwanted Persons - 1 call

Domestic Dispute - 2 calls

Noise Complaints - 4 calls

Weapons - 2 calls

Motor Vehicle Collisions - 2 calls

Threatening - 1 call

Persons Reporting (bail) - 2 calls

Suspicious Persons - 2 calls

Traffic Complaints - 4 calls

Disturb the Peace - 1 call

Trouble with Youth - 2 calls

Police Assistance - 4 calls

Assaults - 2 calls

911 calls - 3 calls

Trespass to Property - 1 call

Liquor Licence Act - 56 calls

Mischief - 2 calls

Bail Violations - 1 call

Drugs - 2 calls

Found Property - 1 call

Obstruct Police - 1 call

Other - 14 calls

Total calls for service was 110 over a 72 hour period.

UCCM Police investigate ATV accident

During the early evening hours on Friday, August 8 UCCM Anishnaabe Police were dispatched to a report of an ATV rollover on Shiginiconing Road on the Sheshegwaning First Nation. Police report that there were two occupants on the ATV at the time of the accident, one was removed by air ambulance to Sudbury and the other by ambulance to Mindemoya. Both operator and passenger are being treated for non-life threatening injuries. Police are still investigating the cause of the accident.

UCCM Police investigates animal complaint

During the afternoon hours of August 9 UCCM Police received a complaint that a dog on the M'Chigeeng First Nation was tied up at a residence and that the dog appeared to be injured. Upon investigation, police determined that the dog was suffering and in distress. The dog was removed by police and taken to a local veterinarian clinic for treatment. Police are continuing to investigate the incident.

Theft of canoe from Mindemoya Lake

During the evening hours of August 10 a resident of Johnny's Park Road in M'Chigeeng reported that his 16' plastic Mad River canoe was stolen from his property. The canoe was properly pulled up onto shore and did not likely drift away. Police are asking for the public's assistance in locating this property or person(s) responsible for taking it.

This case is currently under investigation and police are asking anyone with information to please contact the UCCM Anishnaabe Police at 1-888-377-7135 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS(8477).

BE PROUD OF YOUR PET

Send photos of your pets to mitch@manitoulin.ca and they could be featured in a future edition of The Manitoulin Extra

It's official... they're here!

The trail camera footage that captured the cougar on Manitoulin, the story that The Expositor broke the last week of July has been verified to be recent pictures of a cougar.

Over the past 40 years, you've told us innumerable stories of your cougar sightings. Many of them we reported in the context of the "capture a cougar photo" contest the paper ran for over five years, and which now has been won.

But now that you know you probably weren't "just seeing things", we'd like to hear your COUGAR STORIES. Please send them to the paper by email at editor@manitoulin.ca or by Canada Post to The Expositor Office, Box 369, Little Current, Ontario P0P 1K0 or by fax to 705-368-3822.

Please include the appropriate year (and time of year) and the approximate location in your story, along with as many details and circumstances you can recall.

We'll print as many as we can.

Dominion Bay resident shares roadside moment with a cougar in 1998

I would like to share my cougar story. I did report it to the MNR, with no response.

My husband and I had recently moved to our new home on Dominion Bay. It was late September 2008 and John had gone on his moose hunting trip so I was home alone for this first time in the bush. It was a beautiful evening so I decided to go for a jog. Very soon after leaving my driveway and turning the first bend in the road (Dominion Bay Road) I saw a deer run across the road in front of me, coming from the lakeside into the bush. This was a very familiar sight and not alarming to me. What was alarming was what I thought to be the second deer crossing but this animal stopped, as I did, to take a look at one another. The second animal was a cougar. We shared a few seconds together and it headed in the bush after the deer. The distance between us was approximately 100 paces.

A couple of years later we had a perfect set of tracks in our front yard. We called our neighbour, a retired MNR biologist, who confirmed it as a cougar track.

For the record, I always believed you Lyle!

Manitoulin Sporting Life

Ice Chips to Canoe Quips

by Larry and André Leblanc

Swimmer conquers Lake Manitou!

Congratulations to Ray Scott who successfully completed his epic, length of Lake Manitou, Sandfield to Newby's Bay swim. To my knowledge this is the first time this route has been completed by any swimmer. Ray, who has been the participant in many triathlons over the last few years, has always entered the sprint distance variety. The swim portions of his past races were usually under 400m so his 19 km-plus accomplishment on Monday was a huge step-up.

After months of training that started in the pool before the lake was ice-free with coaches Jackie White and Tamara Flannigan fine-tuning his technique and once preparation saw him able to move to the lake, Ray developed his own technique for dealing with our unseasonably cold spring. One strategy he calls strip swimming involved starting a swim in the spring waters with wetsuit, skull cap, gloves and then gradually removing these articles as his body acclimatized. As the big day approached he tried to find a day that was reasonably warm and not too windy. However once the day was finally settled on he decided to reverse the route so he wouldn't have to bust through waves.

As part of his support crew I saw him swim the final 7km through the Narrows into Newby's Bay. For most of it, he was still holding a remarkable 2.9 km per hour up until a severe, sore shoulder made every stroke painfully slow. I was impressed by not only his perseverance and pain tolerance but how well organized him and his family were for considering all eventualities to set him up for success. He would even receive helpful texts from coach Jackie read by his son William from the support boat. Thanks as well to kayakers Craig Maxwell and Mark Gibeault who each took a leg of the journey.

Finally, Ray didn't only want to challenge himself physically he also wanted the attention the event would draw to raise money for a worthy cause: Manitoulin Family Resources. For details on how to pledge money to MFR, pictures of the day and minute by minute tweets from son, James visit www.rayscrazyswim.ca.

Haw Run winner

Congratulations to the Haw Run 1K race winner Ava Assinewai. Watch out for this name, the youngster will be putting her mark on a lot of races in the near future!

Dennie starts Friday!

There are just a couple of days before the start of the inaugural Denie canoe and kayak race. The awesome course traverses some of the best cruising waters the North Channel offers from Blind River to Spanish to Little Current this coming August 22 and 23. The race currently has commitments from some 40 racers who will pilot vessels like the 26 foot Voyageur canoes as well as tandem and solo kayaks. The winds are forecasted to be on the light side but will likely be in your face for the two days, paddlers! Boats should be arriving at Little Current's Low Island sometime Saturday afternoon to evening.

Vibrant pickleball club having active summer

The Manitoulin Pickleball Club has not let the hazy days of summer be lazy but have kept up with their activities. With their generous open offer to tourists to come and join them they were happy to even have a passenger of the Pearl Mist cruise ship that visited last week. Regular members Bud and Pierrette Hebner wanted to get some training games in on Tuesday to prep them for the 2014 Great Lakes USAPA Regional Pickleball Tournament in Indiana, so the club was able to accommodate this passenger's request for a couple of games of pickleball as well as help Bud and Pierrette prepare for their upcoming tournament. Good luck team.

Summer visitor wins national Ultimate title!

Daniel Johnson, son of summer residents David and Susan Johnson, was part of the Canadian Ultimate Championships winning squad Crash Ultimate. Having won the Ontario championships back in July, they earned a berth into the Canadian Championships in Waterloo this past weekend.

Their semi-final match under wind and rain-stormy conditions was a real cliffhanger that needed overtime to defeat Backdraft: 11 - 10. Ultimate games end with a time limit cap and then the first point scored wins the game, otherwise play goes to 15 and have to win by 2.

Crash met Max Power from Toronto at Warrior Field at the University of Waterloo in the final game and played a very smart and hard fought game to edge the Hogtown side: 15-13. Congratulations to Daniel who was one of his team's co-captains and he has worked very hard this year to put together, not only a group of talented Frisbee players but a team that can play well through both winning and losing. a very exciting game 15-13 Max Power from Toronto to be the Canadian Mixed Ultimate Champions. He was one of 4 co-captains and worked incredibly hard create this team and operate through both winning and losing.

Next time you are on the Island, Daniel, you will have to check out Ben Quackenbush's FaceBook page to see when the next Ultimate pickup game at Low Island is taking place.

Good day of fishing had at annual Kagawong Small Mouth Bass Derby

by Betty Bardswich

SPRING BAY—The 25th anniversary of the Lake Kagawong Small Mouth Bass Derby was celebrated in grand style on August 10 as event entrants and friends gathered at the property of Leish and John Laurensen to listen to music by The Islanders, salute the winners of the competition and enjoy a great fish dinner. Sixty-three boats participated in the August 9 one-day tournament which started at 6 am and ran until 8 pm with a total of six fish recorded for each boat. This occasion was started by Herbie Colette, Bud Weadick and Lewis Hartley in memory of Steven Shank Vincent, an avid fisherman. A special award was given to Mr. Weadick at the celebration as a thank you for his work in initiating and helping to run the derby in the early years.

Linda Taylor is the president of the Spring Bay Fish Club and she and her husband Bill have organized this derby for the past 20 years with all profits going to the Starlight Children's Foundation, a charitable organization that works both in hospital and out to bring laughter and hope to children with serious illnesses.

Trudy Rudolph of Richmond Hill was on hand again this year to represent the Starlight Foundation and this year was especially distinctive as Ms. Taylor and her daughter Diana St. Pierre of Espanola were welcomed by Ms. Rudolph as the go-to wish granters for children on Manitoulin and the North Shore. As Ms. Taylor explained, this role has not been filled for many years and she and her daughter are moved to be accepted to take on this position. "I am excited to make a difference in a child's life," Ms. St. Pierre told The Expositor. "I would ask anyone in the North Shore area to contact me at 705-869-7512 if they know of a child who deserves a wish."

Ms. Rudolph had another surprise on hand as she spoke of how wonderful it was to be back on Manitoulin and to thank everyone who worked so hard to make the derby a success. She went on to say that an entertainment unit, valued at $7,500, will be placed at Health Sciences North in Sudbury on behalf of the Kagawong Bass Derby. These mobile units feature a flat screen television, a Nintendo Wii and a DVD player and will be used by children in the hospital. The lifespan of these units is eight years and over and Ms. Rudolph explained that over 4,000 children will be impacted by their use.

The celebration also saw remarks by Ms. Taylor as she announced that the derby raised $7,500 last year. "Not bad," she said, "for Spring Bay for one weekend." Ms. Taylor also thanked all the volunteers for their help in making the event a success including the music makers, dock master, recorder, cooks, bartender, people selling tickets for a draw as well as for hats and shirts and tickets on a bench made by Stan Lovie which was won by Dave Chwalchuk. She also thanked Rollanda Tovey who has made and donated quilts for the derby for eight years. In a unique coincidence, Ms. Taylor was the winner of the beautiful quilt fittingly featuring different fish. Ms. Taylor was also grateful to all the people who donated prizes which saw every angler receive a gift and to those who made monetary donations.

The first place winners of the Kagawong Derby were Maurice Popelier and John Cada with a total weight of six fish of 21.8 pounds. The father and son team of John and Garnet Pearson took home second prize with a weight of 21.41 pounds while Stephanie King and Lewis Hartley brought in a total weight of 20.75 pounds.

Other awards at the derby included largest bass at 4.60 pounds, won by David Pearson who was awarded the Joshua Montgomery trophy, largest fish other than bass at 1.05 lbs caught by a female along with the Barb Weadick award which Marilyn Breathart won and the largest fish again other than bass for males which went to David Weadick for his 4.10 pounds which also garnered him the Bob Haskett trophy. This year's derby saw a tie for the largest perch for the John Wright Memorial Trophy which was won by Michelle Hunter and Ellie Weber with .55 pounds. The mystery weight award, which was 12.40 pounds, went to the Blaine Osterkruger and Ken Nodecker team who received the Nora Weadick Trophy. Rounding out the awards was the Art Breathart Trophy for three perch caught by a youth, which went to Nolan Hare with his fish weighing .36 pounds.

The anglers winning the trophies also received cash prizes with several people giving their winnings to the Starlight Children's Foundation.

For more information about the derby or the Starlight Children's Foundation, call Ms. Taylor at 705-282-2273.

Wawa Northern Nationals King of Street

Little Current's Roy Knobel double entered his '71 Dodge Dart in the Street Eliminator class on Saturday at the Wawa Northern National Drag Races. Roy was able to take both entries through to the final winning both first and second place in the 54 car field that had entered the competition. On Sunday Roy was able to once again drive the '71 Dodge to a first place finish in a 32 car Street Car Shootout Drag Race. The Wawa Nationals conclude what has been a successful drag racing season for Roy and his Crew. The above picture shows Roy in the Winners Circle with his trophy and prize money.

Reel in some major cash at 3rd annual Pike and Bass Classic

WIKWEMIKONG—Wikwemikong Tourism is excited to announce the 3rd Annual Pike and Bass Classic at Prairie Point in Wikwemikong this weekend, August 23-24. The fishing boundaries for the event are Fishing Management Unit (FMU) Zone 14 from Maple Point east to Phillip Edward Island.

Entry is only $60 per person with a children's division for only $10. There will be three top prizes for both pike and bass categories with over $6,000 in cash and prizes for the most accumulated weight over the course of the weekend. Register before August 8 to qualify for the early bird draw for $500 plus all entrants qualify for the registration prize of a 2015 Rainbow Ridge season pass. Back by popular demand is the Q92 daily Mystery Fish Contest for $250 cash including some fantastic "mystery" prizes for the heaviest Mystery Fish. Proceeds from the event go to support tourism initiatives in Wikwemikong.

As the hosts of the popular ice fishing derby on Manitowaning Bay, Wikwemikong Tourism is excited to have Italo Labignan of Canadian Sportfishing film and co-host the event. This will be the second episode of the popular show expected to air in 2015 on Rogers Sportsnet Ontario.

"Through this partnership we will not only position Wikwemikong fishing events as premier tournaments in the province but we will also ensure long term economic impacts are realized," states tourism coordinator Luke Wassegijig. The Pike and

Bass Classis has also partnered with Fishbum Outfitters to bring to the official event t-shirts that can be purchased through Wikwemikong Tourism.

The official tournament registration will take place at Prairie Point in Wikwemikong, J & G Marina in Birch Island, and at Spider Bay Marina in Little Current on Friday, August 22 from 3 to 8 pm. Mystery fish entries can be purchased the day of registration or in advance at Wikwemikong Tourism. The prize table and dinner will be held on Sunday, August 23 hosted by Italo Labignan at Prairie Point which is conveniently located at the northern end of Wik-wemikong, and can be accessed via boat within minutes from Killarney, Little Current and Manitowaning.

Wikwemikong Tourism is responsible for hosting a variety of tourism related events and cultural experiences throughout the year. Its parent organization the Wikwemikong Development Commission serves as the economic development branch of the Wikwemikong Unceded Indian Reserve.

Stanley Richards’ death remains a mystery, made feature presentation at History Night

by Sharon Jackson
KAGAWONG—A larger venue may be needed in order to accommodate the ever growing audience attracted to the annual History Night event. What started out with 15 people at the Old Mill five years ago has literally become a standing room only event.

Old Mill Heritage Centre curator Rick Nelson welcomed upwards of 200 people to the evening’s program which featured a video and presentation relating to the mysterious, and much discussed, 1946 disappearance of Stanley Richards.

In recognition of the 100th anniversary of the OPP (in 2009), Manitoulin Expositor staff writer Michael Erskine penned an article about unsolved murders on Manitoulin, among them the Richards case which led to the case being re-opened.

OPP (Ontario Provincial Police) Detective Constable Patty Smith, a 20-year veteran, has been working on this cold case with the UHIT (Unsolved Homicide Investigation Team) since July of 2010.

On October 13, 2010, Mr. Nelson, Detective Smith, Stan Gordon Jr., who acted as their guide, and Mr. Erskine visited the site of the cabin where Mr. Richards made his home on Maple Point.

Back in 1946, the 40-person search party included (Mayor) Austin Hunt Jr., Mr. Gordon and his younger brother and lasted several days but produced no sign of Mr. Richards.

OPP Community Services Officer Constable Al Boyd provided a bit of a back story into the Richards disappearance and stated the case “may never be solved” as everyone who was involved in the original investigation has since passed away.

“The case,” shared Detective Smith, “is not active but ongoing.” The limited information the OPP has on Mr. Richards is that he was born in 1903, worked for the township and was a trapper and guide. He lived in a cabin near the Dodge estate and was a self proclaimed conservation officer who “did not like trespassers.”

Mr. Richards was married briefly to Lucy Perreault (who died in 1991) and had a daughter, Betty Ann Laffin, in 1941.

As the story goes, neighbour Richard Hammond drove Mr. Richards to town for groceries on November 1, 1946. When his cabin was searched following the report of his disappearance, the grocery bags were found on the kitchen table and the house undisturbed. There was no sign of foul play found during the investigation, the police explained.

When Mr. Richards failed to show up for work on Monday morning, it prompted Mr. Hammond to check on him. That is when the search party began. All reports indicate that Mr. Hammond was the last person to see Mr. Richards alive.

An uncashed cheque in the amount of $59.40,

Billings Museum curator Rick Nelson joins local guide Stan Gordon and OPP Detective Constables Patricia (Patty) Smith and Yvon-Pierre Perron in the field containing an old collapsed building to discuss local legends and lore surrounding the 1946 disappearance of trapper and guide Stanley Richards.

written by Stan Gordon Sr. (also employed by Billings Township as a payroll clerk), was one piece of physical evidence in the decades-old case.

Both Ms. Perreault and Ms. Laffin agreed to provide DNA samples to police and ground penetrating radar may be used in the investigation, however nothing has been scheduled to date. Detective Smith advised, “we don’t close unsolved cases, they remain inactive but not closed.”

Many rumours and versions of what may have happened to Mr. Richards ran rampant in the village and to date, his disappearance remains a mystery.

A front-page Expositor story published July 14, 2010, written by then-editor Jim Moodie attempted to shed light on the mystery through an interview with Lyman Corbiere of M’Chigeeng who said, in 1947, when he was a boy of two his family lived at Maple Point and he has burned into his memory a fatal skirmish that involved Stanley Richards, his grandfather Narcissus Corbiere and his uncle Dan Corbiere.

Mr. Corbiere said that while the two members of his family set out to jack-light a deer that November night, they inadvertently shot someone’s cow and set out to quickly bury the evidence, fearing the consequences.

Mr. Richards happened upon the scene (he’d probably heard the gunshot, Mr. Corbiere noted in 2010), there was a confrontation and “my grandfather whacked him in the head with a shovel.”

Mr. Corbiere felt his grandfather “didn’t plan to kill him,” but struck him “too hard,” and that blow proved fatal, “so now they had to bury him as well so they buried the cow and him together.” Mr. Corbiere said in the 2010 interview that “I remember them coming back in the house and really screaming and hollering away. I know it was Mr. Richards they were talking about because I heard what they were saying.”

Some other featured historical bits throughout the evening included photos of Danny Dodge, son of the co-founder of the American Dodge Motor Company, who perished following an accident while on his honeymoon at the family cottage (known locally the Dodge Lodge) with wife Lorraine McDonald. An interview with former staff member Lyla Chatwell of Manitowaning was shown as she returned to the Lodge for the first time since working for Danny’s widow.

Mr. Nelson shared that a new resident to the township has a large collection of military artifacts that he is eager to share with board members and the general public. The Old Mill has a large military collection.

Old photos of the Old Mill, the Havelock Hotel, Elliott’s Garage (home of Manitoulin Chocolate Works) and what is now the Villager were also viewed with great interest.

Home movies of the Lamb family, who have had no less than five generations and spend their summers in Kagawong, were also shared with the audience.

The shipwreck of the India, known as a timber hooker, was 220 feet long and weighed in at 500 tonnes, was featured as a “fun and easy dive” as it is handily accessed being in only 20 feet of water.

Sandy McGillivray of Little Current, a Manitoulin historian, was in attendance and shared a well-known rumour that the sinking may have been “an insurance job.” While some were setting a fire on board, others were trying frantically to put it out.

The 45th anniversary of the first moon walk was recognized with a viewing of the launch of Apollo 11 (July 16, 1969). Neil Armstrong’s, who was the first man to walk on the moon, niece was in the audience. Newspaper articles and photos on display were enjoyed by the public during a refreshment break.

Draws were made for a DVD of Georgian Bay, a Kagawong walking tour map created by Jenna Carter (available at the Old Mill Heritage Centre) and a table donated by Dig & Doug Cedar Furniture.

Mr. Nelson thanked members of the Museum Board for their efforts in making the evening a success and invited members of the audience to donate teddy bears for their Christmas in Kagawong (held in November) display as it is their goal to have the largest collection.

The Old Mill Heritage Museum is open daily from 10 am to 4 pm until Labour Day. Fall hours Wednesday to Sunday 11 am to 4 pm. The museum will have a special military display from November 1 to 11 in recognition of Remembrance Day.

Visitor numbers are “way up from last year,” according to Mr. Nelson. The total to date (Sunday August 17) is 2,540.

chief said. “We need to make sure we’re getting it right.”
Chief and council will hold a strategic planning session and retreat soon to learn what the last council’s directions were and to give each council member an opportunity to provide their own considerations, the chief said.
He called the support from his community “overwhelming. Me, my wife and eldest son were shocked at the outcome. I was confident going into the election, but didn’t realize what level of support this would translate into.”

Chief Peltier concluded by thanking the “people of Wiikwemkoong” for their support, adding that he will continue to “try and bring good things on behalf of my community.”

or MacNevin previously told The Expositor. “There are very specific rules when tendering for a project such as providing build bond insurance and normally the various contractors don’t know what the others have bid during the process. Under the law (the Municipal Act) we have to tender a certain way. Council is not happy. This whole thing isn’t fair to Build North or the other three contractors.”

The Expositor contacted Whittington Engineering, which is managing the tender process for the Northeast

Town project.
“Ten contractors have requested drawings,” Ian Whittington told The Expositor, “but that doesn’t mean they will bid—we won’t know (how many bidders) until the tender closes on Wednesday (August 20).”

...explores the blending of traditional and western systems

the group of Crown Attorneys, lawyers, judges and justice professionals who had gathered for the conference to the band members responsible for creating Wikwemikong’s Peacemaker Justice Program.

“These individuals represent the five satellite areas of our community and are the people who have worked so hard to create and establish the Justice Program: Howard Trudeau, Miranda Trudeau, Raymond Jackson, Rhonda Trudeau and Dorothy Fox.”

Ms. Wakegijig-King also commended the work of Lora Mackie, the developer/coordinator of the Justice Program, and summer student Kara Kennedy.

“The program will focus on three main elements,” explained Ms. Wakegijig-King. “Taking responsibility, healing and restoring balance. This will enhance our band members’ lives and allow for greater access to a justice system that involves the entire community of Wikwemikong. We strongly encourage the communication that has been established and to work towards enhancing this interaction with the community.”

She further explained that a “justice circle restores balance and begins the healing plan with the positive alternatives that it creates.”

Wikwemikong has successfully launched and begun implementing the delivery of a diversion program for youth in the community ages 12-17 and also for adults.

Diversion programs provide rehabilitation for offenders while providing comprehensive counselling services to meet the individual’s needs, as well as the needs of their family and their community.

Pre-diversion occurs following minor offences, prior to a conviction, and involves all members of the justice circle working together towards healing. Post-diversion is similar, but occurs after an individual is convicted of a crime and can lead to the charges being dismissed.

“We have a pre-charge diversion and we have post-charge diversion,” continued Ms. Wakegijig-King. “The leadership of Wikwemikong is working together with the Crown Attorney’s office and the Wikwemikong Tribal Police, with a protocol signed in May of this year by all three parties.”

With the justice circle, the offender of a crime will sit down with an offender support person, three community justice panel members, the investigating officer of the case, the victim and a victim support person.

It was a full house at the inaugural Wikwemikong Justice Conference held earlier this month.

Through these justice circles, all the parties work together to develop a ‘plan of healing.’

“We have had an information session in the community to provide the education and awareness of what diversion is and that is means going to a justice circle instead of court,” said Ms. Wakegijig-King. “During this information session we asked the membership, ‘what do you think some of the factors of offending behaviours are?’ and ‘why are individuals engaging in criminal activity?’”

Ms. Wakegijig-King listed some of the reasons given during the community information sessions such as a lack of activities, peer pressure, bullying, residential schools, lack of economic development, loss of culture and mental health.

“Traditionally, we have our teachings that guide us because it speaks to everything of who we are: honesty, truth, bravery, love, humility, respect, wisdom,” she continued. “Justice is not punishment in traditional terms—justice is about teachings.”

In addition to Ms. Wakegijig-King’s remarks, Ogimaa (Chief) Duke Peltier spoke to the group, followed by a drum song by youth Pahquis Trudeau.

“I would like to formally welcome you all to Wikwemikong,” said Chief Peltier. “This is a proud moment to stand here before you as a chief at this new initiative. I would like to commend Gladys Wakegijig and the committee for all their hard work.”

“The foundation of our community is our children and this has been our directive in all new programs undertaken by Wikwemikong,” continued Chief Peltier. “For this reason we have declared a Children’s Bill of Rights. Their identity is going to be paramount in their development and the development of our children.”

“Through a 10-year process we have also developed, and in June ratified, our constitution,” he added. “This sets the stage for our community to lay the foundation of our story. We have built relationships with our brothers and sisters throughout Canada and the US who have freely shared their justice models. The concept of having our own people dealing with our own intertribal matters is reassuring. Through the establishment of the justice committee we have begun looking at ways to start taking this system back over. It will be a collaboration, but I see this as an opportunity to begin discussing how these two systems (First Nation and non-First Nation) can work together.”

The first guest speaker of the day was the Honourable Leonard S. Mandamin, judge of the Federal Court and ex-officio member of the Federal Court of Appeal.

Mr. Mandamin began his presentation by reviewing the historical differences of Anishinabek and the Jesuit models of justice.

He told a 1630 account of a French drummer boy that struck an aboriginal warrior who was interested in his drumsticks. The warrior was insulted and demanded justice from the French. The French refused to follow the aboriginal traditional form of justice and promised to whip the boy, which horrified the warrior.

Mr. Mandamin also talked about his career and his work helping develop the Tsuu T’ina Court in Alberta, which he presided over, and the Siksika Court on the Siksika Reserve.

He gave alarming statistics of the Tsuu T’ina Court system (which is heavily founded on peacemaking) and how after it was developed, re-offenses were cut by 50 percent.

“Peacemaking can help an individual beyond what the court can,” explained Mr. Mandamin, giving the example of a case he resided over when a woman was addicted to medication and had shoplifted Gravel. “During the peacemaking process, she revealed that she had low self esteem and had not finished high school. She was told she would need to go back and finish high school and then college. When the agreement is fulfilled (by the offender), the matter comes back to court and the peacemaker coordinator explains what has been done.”

There were other various workshops and speakers throughout the day including a workshop with Wikwemikong Tribal Police Services, a plenary session on youth and justice, brainstorming sessions and a presentation from the Honourable Patricia C. Hennessy of the Superior Court of Justice speaking on justice education and Wikwemikong.

Central Manitoulin Council Notes

Pavement versus grass

Council accepted the recommendation that the boulevards being installed as part of the Yonge Street reconstruction and Mindemoya Drain work, under the Labelle Brothers contract, be paved instead of sodded for an additional cost of $27,504 plus HST at the Municipality of Central Manitoulin council meeting on August 14. As Councillor Pat MacDonald stated, there was considerable discussion on this issue and the roads superintendent had favoured pavement for ease of cleaning. “Grass boulevards do look nice,” Mayor Gerry Strong noted, “but in the long term we will reduce maintenance costs.” Councillor Adam McDonald said he found it particularly disheartening that some property owners stated that they would not cut the grass if it was installed in front of their properties with one owner telling the mayor that he did not want grass put in front of his property at all.

Councillor McDonald asked for a recorded vote on this recommendation with Mayor Strong and Councillors MacDonald, Taylor and Cannard voting in favour of the motion and Councillor McDonald opposed.

The motion recommended to council that it consider rescinding Motion No. 122-14 that authorized proceeding with the addition road construction of base and pavement without curb on Duke Street (to the intersection of Laurie Lane) to a maximum cost of $27,500 was defeated at the council meeting August 14. Councillor MacDonald explained to council that some money could be saved by wavering this work and that the roads superintendent had said that leaving this work for a year would not make any difference. Mayor Strong added that the roads superintendent had also said that he could do this work at a lower cost and the mayor thought that council should ‘jump at that.’

“Initially I was against this work,” Councillor MacDonald then told council, “but after looking at the numbers today, I think that all the work should be done. It is already included in the cost that we are expecting.”

Councillor Taylor noted that there will be a large paving crew in the municipality next year with the paving of Highway 551. “Perhaps,” he stated, “we could get a better deal rather than getting asphalt shipped from Sudbury.” Mayor Strong also put forth the idea of saving money by having the municipality’s crews prepare the base for this work and noted that he would have to ask the roads superintendent about this. With the defeat of the motion, Mayor Strong asked that this matter be looked into to get a better cost for this recommendation.

...help to recoup losses after devastating fire and children, Mr. Deforge said he tried to save the two trucks, but it was too late. One was in use while the other, a spare, did not have insurance.

“The fire started in the shop, and was most likely electrical,” Mr. Deforge said. “It was deemed not suspicious by the fire department, as it was an older building.”

The fire is particularly devastating as there are many people on Manitoulin who rely on Homeland Missions and the work they do, including a meals on wheels program that services 84 elderly people in the community from the fall until April. “All for free,” Mr. Deforge said.

“We lost all of our equipment: pots, pans, etcetera,” he added. “We’re really scared that the program will be lost.”

Mr. Deforge said the program began when Homeland Missions learned that there are many senior citizens in the area who do not get proper nourishment, especially during the winter months when the weather keeps them from venturing outside.

“The meals are between two and two-and-a-half pounds, which usually lasts for more than one meal,” Mr. Deforge said. Twenty-six volunteers help to run the meals on wheels program. “It’s run through the church (Cornerstone Christian Assembly), but it’s a real community initiative.”

Money owed on the reefer truck means that, once the truck is paid in full, the insurance payout would not cover the cost of a new vehicle.

“We run our food bank through the truck too,” he added.

“So many people have been blessed by that truck,” Mr. Deforge said. “I was just in tears. Not over the building, but the truck. It’s just a piece of tin but it meant so much to so many families. Without the truck, it will affect the entire community and the North Shore.”

He shared some of the other good works Homeland Missions does in the community, including making over 400 back to school bags for high schoolers that comes complete with paper, binders, pens and more. These bags are left discreetly at the schools’ office for anyone who needs them.

All of the Island schools, if they ask the mission, are also welcome to take what they need from Homeland’s 53-foot trailer stocked with school supplies. Teachers can also help outfit their classrooms thanks to this trailer.

“In the last two weeks, we helped between 25 and 30 teachers put stuff in their classrooms, all absolutely free,” he said.

The trailer is also open to churches or other Island organizations that could benefit from free stationary. Homeland Missions will not approach you, however, you must come to them.

Teachers also use Homeland Missions when they worry that a child in their class may not have enough to eat. Through the mission’s food bank, anonymous parcels may be left at the home of the child to help the parents with their family food requirements. They have also partnered with the Childrens’ Aid Society in this way too.

The mission has also given much to the area hockey associations, horticultural groups and more by way of prizes as Homeland Missions has a steady supply of kids’ toys at their disposal.

To help raise funds to purchase new equipment and to go towards the purchase of a new truck for Homeland Missions, Cornerstone Christian Assembly is asking the Manitoulin Island community for donations. Cheques for $10 or more will be given a charitable tax receipt and can be sent to: Cornerstone Christian Assembly, 159 5th Sideroad, Tehkummah, Ontario, P0P 2C0.

are themselves the victims of violence and abuse; and inadequate police response to violence against indigenous women as illustrated by the handling of missing persons cases.”

In its February, 2014 submission to the Parliamentary Special Committee on Violence Against Indigenous Women (IWFA), Amnesty noted: “The level of international concern is demonstrated by the fact that in 2013, three international human rights mechanisms conducted visits to Canada either wholly or in part to investigate violence against indigenous women and girls. The Inter-American Commission on Human Rights mission was held in August, followed by the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women in September, and United Nations Special Rapporteur on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, James Anaya, in October.”

The Cywinks want to tie their sister Sonya’s murder “into this epidemic of missing and murdered aboriginal women. We want people to recognize that this is a large, buried issue.” They have planned a solidarity walk, vigil and feast to honour their sister, and their posters welcome everyone to attend; another gathering will take place simultaneously in London.

“Even if this doesn’t solve Sonya’s murder, maybe it will lead to raised consciousness and help others who are in violent and abusive situations,” say Mag and Alex. “Prevention of violence is paramount, we want to let young children know this is happening and that it could happen to them. We’re responsible for that education, no one else.”

The gathering in honour of Sonya Nadine Mae Cywink and First Nations murdered and missing women will be held this Saturday, August 23 at the Whitefish River First Nation Community Centre. The Sacred Fire will be held from 3 pm to midnight with a peaceful solidarity Walk at 5:15 pm, a candle-light vigil at 7 pm with feast to follow.

...MTA seeks partnerships to manage top attractions

over the responsibility of it," continued Mr. Berti, adding that the possibility of a partnership through a steering committee could be the answer in the lighthouse's case also if an interested group doesn't step forward. "With both attractions, it makes the most sense for a group close to it to take it over."

"Our job is to promote the Island attractions, but we need to make sure it is being cared for so we can confidently use it as one of Manitoulin's flagship sites to promote," concluded Mr. Berti. "The MTA is a not-for-profit group of volunteers and we just don't have the resources to care for and bring these sites up to par. That's why we are looking for partnerships."

The Northeast Town council received a letter from the MTA earlier this month asking the municipality to take over the "lead responsibility" of the trail, explaining, "An important element of the new strategy of the MTA is to increase efforts and resources to draw people to the Island."

"This requires an outward focus and the development of far reaching arms and initiatives," the letter continues. "Like all organizations, there is a limit to our capacity so we must choose carefully where we place our energies and resources. Counterproductive to this outward looking focus are ongoing responsibilities that pull our attention back in the opposite direction—one such situation is the responsibility for the management of attractions like the Cup and Saucer Trail. While we wholeheartedly recognize the importance of this site, Islanders may be better served if this responsibility was transferred to a steward with more direct and local connection and vested interest."

A motion from council to take over responsibility the trail was defeated, with many of the councillors stating that the cost would be too high for the taxpayers to take on.

The MTA maintains liability insurance for the Cup and Saucer Hiking Trails and further indemnifies the owners of the property over which the trails cross. It is through the goodwill of the owners (Don Eadie Construction and Randy and Meredith Noble) that the trails exist. The MTA has undertaken this role to maintain the relationship between itself and the various property owners and thus keep the trails open since some time in the late 1950s.

There is a current partnership with the Northeast Town that empties the containers at the foot of the trails and collects the garbage, as well as replacing defaced signage last year.

The MTA has a long-standing agreement with the Canada Coast Guard to maintain and use the Mississagi Lighthouse property as a tourism attraction for Western Manitoulin. In turn, the MTA has a seasonal agreement with Mary Eadie who operates the Mississagi Lighthouse and Heritage Park.

Over the past 30 years, the MTA has obtained $145,000 in federal grants to preserve the history of the lighthouse and its buildings.

"We went for dinner after the show at the steak restaurant in the hotel," shared Denis McCann. "I was in the washroom and Robin Williams came in. It was just the two of us and I joked and made the comment that I had always dreamed about sharing a urinal with him. He laughed and washed his hands and then stuck around and we talked a bit. I said that I really appreciated his show and we joked how the crowd had generally been older than what he probably expected, but that my wife and I thought he was funny. Before he left the washroom I asked if he had time later, if we could take a picture with him."

"I went back to Dawn and we finished dinner and then about an hour later, as we were walking out, he grabbed our attention and said 'this must be your beautiful wife'," continued Mr. McCann. "He was surrounded by a group of people but cleared the way and posed with her for a photo and even said to me 'make sure you get a good one'."

Later in the year, the couple was told by a friend that she saw Robin Williams on David Letterman's late night show where he made a reference to an interesting meeting with 'a nice man' at a urinal while on tour in Canada.

"We found out Monday night that he had died and were pretty disappointed," said Mr. McCann "We were so thankful that we got the chance to see him and to meet him. He was very nice and a great performer."

"We were big fans," added Ms. Noble. "It's so sad."

Robin Williams, an Academy Award winner known for his roles in the Dead Poets Society, Good Will Hunting and Mrs. Doubtfire, was found dead in his Tiburon, California home last Monday, August 11 after a suspected suicide. He leaves behind his wife Susan Schneider and three children Zelda, Zachary and Cody.

Mr. Haggart's next appearance before the courts is this Friday, August 22 in Gore Bay.

On Friday morning of last week an Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) helicopter could be seen circling Little Current. A phone call to the Little Current detachment revealed that police were taking aerial shots of the fire scenes as a follow up to its ongoing investigation into the arsons.

The OPP is asking anyone with information on any of these fires to please contact police at 1-888-310-1122 or by calling Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS).

Major consequences for harming Ontario cougars, MNRF warns

MANITOULIN—Following The Expositor's recent confirmation of the long-held view that cougars, or mountain lions, exist on Manitoulin, this newspaper contacted the Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry (MNRF) to enquire about the consequences if anyone should harm this majestic feline.

"Mountain lions (cougars) are listed as an endangered species under the Species at Risk Ontario List, and are therefore protected under the Endangered Species Act, 2007," explained Jolanta Kowalski, media relations spokesperson with the MNRF, told The Expositor. "Generally, it is an offence to kill, harm or harass a cougar."

However, Ms. Kowalski continued, in situations where there is imminent risk to humans or animal health or safety, and there is no time to consider authorization to act, a person may kill, harm or harass a cougar.

The MNRF is responsible for administering and enforcing the Endangered Species Act, 2007 and the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, 1997 as well as their associated regulations.

Penalties under the Endangered Species Act,

2007 for individuals can be a maximum fine of $250,000 or one year imprisonment for a first offence. A person convicted of an offence under the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, 1997 is liable to a fine of not more than $25,000 and to imprisonment for not more than one year except for certain exceptions.

Paws off our cougars.

OPP releases new billing model for Ontario municipalities

by Robin Burrige
ONTARIO—The Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) issued a press release last Thursday, August 14 announcing their 'fairer, more transparent billing model for the municipalities it serves across the province.'

The new model will take effect January 1, 2015 and reflects input from the Auditor General and municipalities, including a special review committee from the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO).

"The model includes two components: base policing costs such as crime prevention, proactive policing, officer training and administrative duties and costs for reactive calls for service," the press release notes. "Base policing will account for approximately six percent of the bill, while reactive calls will account for approximately 40 percent. This eliminates the large differences in the amounts municipalities were charged and provides municipalities with better data so they can understand the types of calls for police services in their community and direct crime prevention strategies."

"The new model will be phased in over a period of up to five years to allow municipalities time to adjust their budgets," the release continues. "A fair and transparent OPP billing model is part of the government's plan to invest in people, build stronger communities and make sure Ontario remains one of the safest places in North America."

"Updating the OPP billing model is about making it fairer, more transparent and easier to understand," commented Yasir Naqvi, minister of Community Safety and Correctional Services. "This new model helps ensure that costs to municipalities served by the OPP are shared fairly while enabling communities to direct their crime-prevention efforts towards saving money and keeping their communities safe."

On Manitoulin, the new billing model is sure to evoke mixed emotions from various Island municipalities, having positive effects for the larger municipalities such as the Northeast Town, the Township of Assiginack and Central Manitoulin, which will most likely see a reduction in their policing costs, while smaller municipalities such as the Township of Billings, Tehkummah, Gordon and Barrie Island and the Township of Burpee and Mills will possibly see a large increase.

The proposed model even led to The Federation of Northern Ontario Municipalities (FONOM) taking a clear stance at this spring's FONOM and Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing (MMAH) annual conference held in Sault Ste. Marie, calling on the provincial government to take over policing costs for all municipalities with a population of less than 5,000.

Misery Bay Provincial Park an outdoor learning experience for Toronto leadership camp visitors

by Jan McQuay
MISERY BAY PARK—On July 23 Friends of Misery Bay (FOMB) hosted a group of 92 people from the Toronto area. Seventy-seven young adults from the Toronto area who are attending a six-week long leadership summer camp in the Sudbury area and their 15 group leaders came to explore the unique alvar habitat at Misery Bay.

Volunteer guides Ian Anderson, Kris Mutasov, Gaynor Orford and John Diebolt led hikes to the shore, pointing out unusual features. Mike Meeker gave presentations on fish ecology and fish farming and Ian Anderson on the fur trade. The presentations were listened to very attentively by all groups. The guides' knowledge was tested repeatedly by skill testing questions by the students!

The group was treated to an impressive luncheon with smoked fish provided by Mike Meeker and food items donated by a host of volunteers.

The day was an educational outing for the Solelim Camp and a small fundraiser for the FOMB. President John Diebolt said, "It went extremely well, so much so that they are coming back next year. Thanks goes to Gaynor from all of us for organizing this outing. I would say that I am amazed at the amount of support and help we received. It is simply what our Friends do."

Volunteer Gaynor Orford showed fur pelts of various animals, including this wolf pelt.

The summer staff at Misery Bay Provincial Park will take visitors on guided tours from Monday to Friday between 10 am and 4 pm. This is the only provincial park on Manitoulin Island that has an information centre for the public, and it has well-marked trails. One of the trails leads to a brand new shelter along the bay. Most of the park land was donated by one family, Calvin and Eunice Sifferd, for the enjoyment of the public and the protection of the unique alvar habitat here.

Another group of volunteers are once again turning bowls on the potter's wheels, producing more soup bowls to be used as a fundraiser for FOMB. Jan McQuay and a group of talented artists raised approximately $1,700. These monies helped pay for the new shelter. Bowl sales this year are once again going briskly. Garden's Gate Restaurant has sold quite a few and some weekends they are available at the Mindemoya Market.

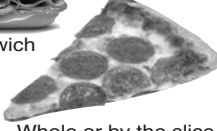

Added John Diebolt, "We have sold bowls to people from all over the world. It's a nice thought—the artistic productions are spreading a little bit of Manitoulin and Misery Bay around the world."

Steve Pellarin, who has been travelling to Gordon's Park for over eight years from Windsor, stands behind his 27-inch telescope at the park's star party in July.

INSET: Gordon's Park has a Dark Sky Preserve area featuring an incredible 360-degree observing area.

Join the party this summer at Gordon's Park

by Robin Burridge

SOUTH BAYMOUTH—Throughout the warmer months on Manitoulin, Gordon's Park off of Highway 6 has a full schedule of fun events to partake in from Stargazing Manitoulin Star Parties to moonlight hikes and so much more. Whether you're visiting Manitoulin or call the Island your home, you should make a visit to Gordon's Park a must on your summer-to-do list.

Through this month there is two for one mini putt every Tuesday, weekly astronomy nights on Thursdays and 'Walk a Fossil Reef' on Sundays.

This Saturday, August 23 there will be a night hike, while Friday, August 29 to Monday, September 1 will be a Manitoulin Star Party, including a public astronomy and laser sky tour on Friday, August 29 and Saturday, August 30.

In September there will be a Dark Side of the Moon Star Party from Friday, September 26 to Monday, September 29, while in October there will be an Aurora Borealis Weekend starting Friday, October 10 to 13.

The Expositor had the opportunity to join the fun earlier this summer at one of the park's Manitoulin Star Parties.

The weekend began with a welcome wine and cheese reception, followed by a public observation session and laser guided tour.

It was a full park in the Dark Sky Preserve area of the grounds, which features an incredible 360-degree observing area.

Park manager Paul Beduhn was on hand to make introductions as seasoned Gordon's Park stargazers and those new to the party set up their telescopes and gear.

"I've been involved with astronomy since I was 13-years-old," explained Steve Pellarin, who has been travelling to Gordon's Park for over eight years from Windsor. "My uncle is a member of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, which I am a member of now myself, and he got me interested in astronomy. A few years ago we built a telescope together which took three years, off and on, to complete."

Mr. Pellarin shared his 27-inch telescope, which he had brought with him to the park, noting that it had won awards at various competitions.

He was also a guest speaker at the weekend speaking on the 'Curiosities of Mars' and the discoveries by the Curiosity Rover, as well as 'Strange Stars of the Milk Way.'

Another guest speaker was Greg Emery of Hamilton who was speaking on 'It came from Outer Space: Comets, Asteroids and Meteors-A Personal Perspective.'

"This is my eighth visit to Gordon's Park," Mr. Emery shared with The Expositor.

"There is a lot of stuff you can't talk about in astronomy groups, like UFOs," said Mr. Emery of his presentation subject. "But a lot of amateur astronomers have seen stuff they can't explain. About 12 years ago I saw three triangles shaped in a formation in the sky. At first I thought it was a trick of the mind and then I tried to rationalize it, but it was definitely something."

Next Friday, August 29 to Monday, September 1 there will be another Manitoulin Star Party. The event will get underway at 7 pm with a wine and cheese welcome reception followed by public observing sessions and laser guided sky tour.

On Saturday, there will be a presentation, 'Bringing Astronomy to Everyone,' from Glynn Burke of mytelescope.com. At 3 pm there will be an 'Aurorae' presentation from astrophotographer Aaron Top, followed by a sci fi potluck supper and group photo with dress up and prizes at 6 pm. The day will cap off with another public observing session and laser guided sky tour at 9 pm.

On Sunday, there will be a question and answer period and info sharing session at 11 pm, followed by 'Observing in Big City Light Pollution' by Terry Trees. The weekend will wind down with a horseshoe tournament at 3 pm and a presentation 'Cruisin' Down the Milky Way' by Steve Dobson at 9 pm.

Registration is $42 plus tax per person, per day or $85 plus tax per family, per day (two adults, children under 16) and includes camping in the Dark Sky Preserve, welcome reception, wine and cheese, various sessions and presentations, horseshoe tournament, use of the hiking trails and nature interpretive centre.

For more information or for a complete list of activities and accommodations visit www.gordonspark.com or visit Gordon's Park on Facebook.

The sweet and salty taste of success

by Lori Thompson
TEHKUMMAH—The Streicher family moved to the farm in Tehkumma in April 2013. In their wildest imaginings, they had not pictured themselves as kettle corn producers or known how much they would enjoy it. Manitoulin Kettle Corn is not a new business, having previously been operated as a retirement project for the Streicher's neighbours, Tom and Tilly Lough. The opportunity arose for the family to assume operations on a trial basis however, and they aren't looking back.

It is a true family endeavour, as all members participate in the production and marketing of the lightly sweet and salty popcorn. "Adam has the knack though," said Ruth Streicher. "We probably depend on him too much."

It looks easy, but the temperature of the oil has to be just right, and the ingredients measured precisely. There are just four ingredients: corn (from southern Ontario, non-GMO), canola oil, sugar, and salt. Each week they go through a fifty pound bag of popcorn.

The boys demonstrate how it works. Propane is used to heat the oil. The corn kernels are mixed with sugar before being added to the hot oil. The popped corn lands in a tray that has small holes at one end. Salt is added to taste. Adam makes it pop and his brother sweeps the end product over the holes where the unpopped kernels fall through. Each batch produces about four large bags of kettle corn.

The equipment itself came from Nebraska, where the developer worked 10 years to perfect it. It is made of stainless steel and can be completely taken apart by hand for cleaning or maintenance.

Sales have been strong. Large and small bags can be purchased at Carl's Trading Post in South Baymouth, Ward's General Store in Tehkumma, Papa's Meats, Providence Bay Marina, and Providence Bay Tent and Trailer Park. Manitoulin Kettle Corn is also available at the Gore Bay and Mindemoya Farmers' Markets, where you can watch it being made.

There are regulars who stop weekly at the markets to buy a large bag or two and to chat. The family is friendly and welcoming. The boys offer free samples to passers-by. This often results in unexpected purchases: the samples are convincing.

This is a trial operation for the Streichers. There is a lease agreement so they can determine if the business works for them. So far the experience has been positive. The family enjoys market days and meeting people, said Mahlon Streicher, and hopes to keep doing it. "It is our plan to carry on," he said.

They will also continue to work their farm. Mr. Streicher runs a cow-calf operation with 20 head of cattle currently. Manitoulin Kettle Corn is largely for the boys. It provides them with a unique learning opportunity and enables them to earn an income of their own. They are hard and steady workers but if the markets aren't busy, you'll find them catching up on their reading.

The Streichers are enjoying their new life on Manitoulin Island. "It's good, we love it up here," said Mr. Streicher. "There are a lot of nice, friendly people. It's a nice area."

Banner year for toadlets of the American toad

by Joe D. Shorthouse
MANITOULIN—American toads are having a banner year around Batman's Campground near Sheguindah. For the past three weeks, hundreds of small versions of the toad, called toadlets, have been hopping around the lawns and woods of the campground to the delight of children.

The American toad is the only species of toad (its scientific name is Anaxyrus americanus) found on Manitoulin Island. When full grown, it is a large, squat toad with brown, reddish or olive skin and dark blotches containing one to two spots of various colours. People cannot get warts from touching toads. In fact, the bumps on the skin of toads are not warts.

Toads eat insects and small creatures that live in soil, such as worms and slugs. They can shoot out their sticky tongues to catch prey. Each American toad can eat up to 1,000 insects every day so they are widely considered friends to gardeners and farmers.

Toads require habitats with semi-permanent ponds or slow moving streams in which to lay their eggs. Eggs are laid in long strings of clear sticky gel and hatch into immatures called tadpoles that swim about aquatic habitats grazing on algae.

Tadpoles change into small toads a few weeks later and disperse away from the water. Their thick skin helps prevent dehydration and allows them to use drier habitats than would be suitable for frogs.

They also require dense patches of vegetation, for cover and hunting grounds. Given these two things and a supply of insects for food, American toads can live almost everywhere on Manitoulin Island, ranging from forests, farmers' fields, to backyards. During daylight hours they seek cover under boardwalks and porches, dead leaves, flat stones, logs and wood piles. During the winter they hibernate on land and burrow beneath the frost line in the soil.

There are two strategies used by frogs and toads for becoming adults. One strategy used by frogs is for the tadpole to be the major part of the frog's increase in size. The other strategy, the one practiced by American toads, is for the terrestrial stage of life, not the aquatic tadpole stage, to be the major period of growth.

American toads are unusual compared to frogs in that the newly transformed toadlets are tiny compared to the size of adults. Toadlets start off 0.8 to 1.3 cm in length when they leave aquatic habitats then slowly grow into adults up to 10 cm in length in terrestrial habitats.

Tadpoles of the American toad usually change into toadlets in synchrony with thousands coming out within a few days. This is a strategy for increasing their chances of survival and is common for creatures such as midges and mayflies that get heavily preyed upon at a specific stage of their life cycle. Garter snakes often gather around ponds and gorge themselves on toadlets as they emerge from the water. When tadpoles change into toadlets and leave the water all at once, predators can't eat them all, and some escape to grow into adult toads.

However, toads counteract their predators with poison glands in the skin on their backs that make most animals reluc-

Bus cancellations should equal school closures, say elementary teachers

by Alicia McCutcheon

ONTARIO—During the annual general meeting of the Elementary Teachers' Federation of Ontario (ETFO) in Toronto last week, teachers voted on a policy statement to see schools closed on days when buses are cancelled due to inclement weather.

The Expositor spoke with Barb Blasutti, president of the Rainbow Local ETFO, in Toronto last week.

She explained that the vote was on a policy statement that guides future decision-making, but ultimately this would be the decision of the school boards and the Ministry of Education.

"Last year an ETFO member was killed in Peterborough trying to make it to work on a day when the buses were cancelled," Ms. Blasutti said, noting that she hopes this policy statement, if anything, gets people to take a closer look at the topic through a "safety lens."

In the Rainbow District School Board, schools are typically not closed when the buses are cancelled, she explained. "Teachers who cannot make it there will either be docked pay or made to take a personal day. I know this is an issue on Manitoulin. I have heard a lot from teachers on the Island," she added, naming Highways 6, 540, 551 and referencing the whiteouts from Lake Mindemoya on Highway 542 from Providence Bay.

"The current practice is, 'if you can't make it, just call,' but even the cell service on the Island is sporadic," Ms. Blasutti said. "I've had many local discussion on this subject."

The Expositor asked Manitoulin Trustee Larry Killens for comment too.

"This is not a new question and one that on its surface appears to elicit a 'no brainer' response," he said. "However, that train of thought and expression, 'no brainer,' is anything but."

"That decision, cancellation of transportation on a 'snow day,' is made for schools by the busing consortium in consultation with the principals/directors of schools once they gather their information," Mr. Killens continued. "The busing consortium is charged with a life-altering decision in this instance, one I assure they take very seriously."

In contrast, he continued, the 'safety bar' for travelling vehicle occupants (cars, trucks etc.) of the day (along with travelling teachers) is set by the local police who are the only entity that can, and at times should, close a highway. "No one else has that specific legal authority," Mr. Killens said. "The 'bar of safety' is set by our police for all who are travelling for work or pleasure. This is their responsibility alone in concert with their advisors (Ministry of Transportation, municipal roads departments, patrol officers, etc.). Hence, there is a point where teachers can be prevented from travelling to work, that is by the police along with other users of the same highways and byways. The measure of their safety (teachers) is the same as everyone else's, unless they are driving a school bus."

"Teachers are treated like all commuting working people. However, there are a few extra safety practices in place that they (teachers) can employ or pull out of their tool chest of safety measures," the trustee added. "Some things they can do to increase their margin of safety are as follows: if the distance to their work is lengthy, on a snow day they need only report to the closest school to their home and not their usual place of employment; if it is totally unreasonable for a teacher to head out on our roads and for some strange reason the police have not closed the roads, they can call and report that they are unable to attend due to weather conditions."

When a snow day is declared, hopefully before a student leaves home, Mr. Killens continued, one must consider the 'fallout' from that decision. "One bus may have three or four links with other buses, parents must make alternate arrangements for care of children, schools must ensure there is someone at the school to receive and care for children who arrive, and for whom it could be unknown to them or parents that the school day has been cancelled."

"Bottom line?" Mr. Killens continued, "teachers have a special place in my world but are treated as well in these circumstances as other travelling/working public and might just have a slight advantage over some other day to day commuters on our highways which can be very dangerous. Teachers I know ask for no more or no less than others would receive in such a situation."

...toadlets of the American toad

tant to eat them. Dogs that pick up a toad will drop it and may foam at the mouth, but the dog will not be hurt. Garter snakes and some other predators are immune to this toxin. The toxin is harmless to curious campers who enjoy picking up the cute critters for a closer look. Even so, it is best to wash your hands after handling toads, and of course, never eat them!

The large numbers of toadlets around Batman's this year means that the surrounding aquatic ecosystems are healthy and a good population of adult toads will be present well into the future.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Joe Shorthouse is a retired Laurentian University professor who spends his summers studying and photographing natural history on Manitoulin Island.

Manitoulin Injury Prevention Coalition educates Island youths through anti-drowning campaign

Towel giveaway promotes water safety on Manitoulin

by Robin Burrridge
MANITOULIN—The Manitoulin Injury Prevention Coalition (MIPC) launched a successful anti-drowning campaign this summer on Manitoulin, bringing awareness to the issue through educational outreach at Island beaches and summer programs and giving away towels sporting messages about water safety to youths.

“In the last two years the Manitoulin Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) investigated three tragic drowning incidents of children on Manitoulin Island,” explained Community Services Officer Constable Al Boyd with the Manitoulin OPP and MIPC co-chair. “Canadian statistics have shown that 570 children have drowned in Canada in the past 10 years. As a result of the incidents on Manitoulin and these alarming facts, the OPP and MIPC are educating the public to become aware of the importance of water safety in order to prevent drowning and water-related injuries this summer.”

“We have been traveling to Island beaches throughout the summer, to swimming lessons and summer programs for youth, doing public outreach and education presentations as part of our anti-drowning campaign,” added MIPC Co-Chair Serena Verboom.

“Through the generous donations from Island municipalities, First Nations, businesses and individuals, we received enough money to purchase 225 towels, which feature a water safety message,” continued Constable Boyd, noting that the MIPC has been using the towels to complement their educational outreach.

“These towels have been an excellent educational tool that we have been giving to children and individuals in the community as a reminder to stay safe around the water,” said Ms. Verboom. “Education is key,” advised Staff Sgt. Kevin Webb, detachment commander of the Manitoulin OPP. “By partnering with community-based organizations like the MIPC, we’re ensuring the right prevention tools are available to families.”

“During our education outreach, we try to make the statistics more relatable to the youth,”

Co-chairs of the Manitoulin Injury Prevention Coalition Constable Al Boyd and Serena Verboom pose with children from the Manitoulin Best Start Hub summer program in Little Current after an education session on drowning prevention. Each youth received a special towel as part of the campaign featuring a water safety message.

explained Ms. Verboom. “Instead of quoting ‘570 children have drowned in Canada in the past 10 years’ I say ‘one school bus per year’ or ‘two classrooms.’ We really try to stress the importance of water safety with both the youth and the public and bring awareness to this issue.”

The MIPC was founded in 2001 with its first campaign addressing impaired driving on Manitoulin through the introduction of Operation Lookout.

Members include various Island organizations such as the OPP, EMS services, municipal fire departments, UCCM Anishnaabe Police, the Wikwemikong Tribal Police, Manitoulin Family Resources, the Ministry of Transportation and the Sudbury and District Health Unit.

Employment Opportunity - Re-posting
Noojmowin Teg Health Centre
Healthy Living Children's Program Coordinator

Noojmowin Teg Health Centre invites applications for the Healthy Living Children's Program Coordinator position. The Coordinator will engage and expose Anishinabek children, ages six to ten, and their families to a wide variety of healthy lifestyle activities with a focus on recreation and nutrition. The incumbent will also ensure that other health components are incorporated within the program including mental wellness, smoking prevention, diabetes awareness/prevention, nutrition, life skills, and traditional teachings – to be offered in close collaboration with health providers of Noojmowin Teg and the First Nations. The Coordinator is responsible for all administrative duties required to implement, improve, and support the program's success, reporting to the Executive Director, and supported by an advisory committee comprised of community partners. Check our web-site for more information about the organization at: www.noojmowin-teg.ca.

Given the traditional practices of the Anishinabek, from time to time exposure to wood smoke and the burning of sacred medicines, including tobacco, sweet grass, sage or cedar, may occur within the work setting.

Qualifications:

- Minimum three-year post-secondary degree/diploma in Physical Fitness, Health Promotion, with a focus on nutrition
- One to three year's work experience coordinating and delivering physical activity/nutrition programming, preferably with children and parents
- Anishnaabemowin and knowledge of the Anishinabek culture and protocols, an asset.
- Current Vulnerable Sector Criminal Record's Check
- Valid Class G driver's license and reliable vehicle
- Current CPR C and First Aid Certification
- Excellent written, oral and technology (ie. Word, excel, powerpoint, etc) communication skills.
- Ability to work independently, yet part of an interdisciplinary team
- Ability to work flexible hours
- Ability to work in data electronic reporting environment, preferred

Submit a covering letter, resume, three (3) work related references, and a recent CPIC. Mark correspondence as "Confidential" Application Deadline: Friday, September 5, 2014

thank you

in memoriam

Watching a loved one go is traumatic to say the least. We are going to miss Dad, Grandpa, Uncle Harold. As Allan Wilkinson put it so accurately at the graveside service, he was a character, and losing a character leaves a big hole to fill in our lives. However, we must carry on and so many have helped us over the last few weeks that it is difficult to remember everyone, but we want to try. Please excuse us if we miss anyone. Thanks to Mike Bedard, Andy Stadnyk, Nick Jeeves and all the nurses and staff at the Mindemoya Hospital who helped to make Harold's final days comfortable and compassionate. You will probably never know how much it meant to him and our family that he was able to spend his final days in your care. Thanks also to everyone who stopped by the house with food and condolences. It was comforting to talk with you, and the food was great. Thanks, also, to everyone who stopped to say hi and give their condolences when we met on the street, at the grocery store, at work, everywhere. The grief was much easier to bear with your kind words. Tony and Gloria did another professional job with the final arrangements and helped us meet all of Harold's wishes upon his passing. He was very specific about his wishes, so we hope all his friends and family will understand even though they may not have had the chance to say goodbye in the conventional way. Thanks as well to Mark for taking care of the burial. It is our hope that Harold was able to hear the service conducted by Allan Wilkinson at the grave. He seemed to know and understand so well the life he had lived. The eulogy delivered by Leeann and Cailey was very touching and I'm sure Grandpa would have been very proud. There's no doubt that many have been missed in the thanks noted above but please accept our apologies for missing anyone. Your gifts, kind words, hugs and handshakes all helped so much to make Harold's passing bearable. Sincerely, Terry and Judy McCutcheon.

Providence Bay Fair brings in crowds by the thousands

A man in a British Royal Mounted Police uniform, including a tall black helmet and a dark jacket, is riding a unicycle on a paved path. He is wearing white gloves and black boots. Two other men are standing behind him, watching. One man is wearing a dark jacket and blue pants, and the other is wearing a light-colored jacket and blue pants. The background shows a grassy area and trees.

A large indoor market hall with a long central table displaying various food items, including breads and pastries. People are browsing the stalls, and colorful tapestries hang on the walls.

A large inflatable narwhal structure with a blue body and white markings. A child is visible inside the structure. A sign is on the left.

A group of people, including children and adults, are on a decorated float for a parade. The float is a green structure with a sign that says "DEW". A woman in the foreground holds a green sign that reads "A FUNNY HAPPYER ALEX LARSEN".

Bridgette said the attention, especially from little girls who loved to point her out, has been a treat. She said she is looking forward to next summer’s adventure of attending the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto where she will participate as the Manitoulin representative at the Ambassador of the Fairs contest.

“It was a very successful, fun event,” said Ms. Dawson. “Everyone appreciated the family-oriented events. The entertainment was very well received. We had lots of positive comment about the quality of entertainment.”

As a special, unexpected treat, Mark Ideson, a 2014 Paralympic Games gold medal curler, was spotted in the crowd by Ms. Dawson on Saturday (after she heard rumours that he would be on Manitoulin) and he was invited to come back the following day to speak to an audience in the arena by organizer Lyle Dewar, which he did, giving a rousing speech and sticking around for photos too.

First annual NOAA plein air artist colony in Gore Bay

GORE BAY—The week of August 11 to 15 saw a group of 13 artists and writers from the Northern Ontario Art Association and the Manitoulin Writers Guild braving the elements—the wind, the rain and sometimes the sunshine—to paint in the out of doors some of our Island scenery. A co-operative venture through the Gore Bay Museum, this was the first of what, hopefully, will become an annual event. Convening the colony were Nicole Weppler on behalf of the Gore Bay Museum and Manitoulin artist and NOAA board member Christie Best-Pearson. The group met each morning at the Gore Bay Harbour Centre then ventured out to various sites and art galleries in Gore Bay, Kagawong, Spring Bay and Evansville. Margo Little also initiated participants in the art of Haiku—a type of poetry where artists could paint with words as well as their brushes, thus bringing artists and writers a little closer together and with a better understanding of each other’s art form.

The Northern Ontario Art Association is an umbrella organization representing 15 art clubs throughout Northern Ontario and over 500 artists. Artists attending this year were from Sudbury, Timmins and Manitoulin Island. A few writers from the Manitoulin Writers Guild also participated.

Denture Wearers: Facts You Need To Know

Relining Your Dentures - Why And When

Relining your dentures not only keeps an accurate fit for comfort but is vital to maintaining the bone underneath that supports your dentures. When you lose your natural teeth, your body shrinks the bone and gums a little bit every day forever. Relines will keep the dentures fitting as the bone shrinks. Relines are done every two to three years on average depending on an individual's own rate of shrinkage. A loose denture is a menace to the bone under your gums. The ill fit not only causes sore spots but it also increases the shrinkage rate of your gums - even if it doesn't hurt. You will need to use messy adhesives much sooner than if you maintain the supportive bone with re-lines. Relines can be done within the same day.

Sore Gums? Think "Softliner"

Pain is probably the #1 concern of denture wearers, even if they fit well. A softliner is one solution. It can be used in making new dentures or relining existing ones. It is a soft, rubber-like layer on the inside of the denture. It molds perfectly to the gums for superior adhesion when wetted by saliva. It alleviates the irritation of dentures and allows greater biting pressure. They are usually used in lower dentures but can be placed in upper dentures as well. Soft-liners can also be done within the same day.

Chi-Cheemaun donates lifeboat to Little Schoolhouse and Museum

The Owen Sound Transportation Company has donated an original Chi-Cheemaun lifeboat to the Little Schoolhouse and Museum in South Baymouth. The lifeboat was original equipment for the Chi-Cheemaun, built in 1974, and was in use as part of the lifesaving and evacuation system until 2013, when the entire davit-launched life raft evacuation system was replaced by Marine Evacuation Slides (MES) and 150 person life rafts. The lifeboat was delivered to South Baymouth on June 16 and will be on permanent display at the museum. In the photo are, left to right, curator Charlene Fretz-Hyytiainen and board members Hank Hyytiainen, Dick Bowerman, Robert Playter, Liz Silbaugh and Barbara Flaherty.

Pickleball tourist

When the cruise ship Pearl Mist docked at the Port of Little Current on Wednesday, August 13, one of the passengers had a greeting party: Jim and Margaret Van Camp of White's Point who were there to meet Bernard Mohan of The Villages, Florida and escort him to play in a special pickleball game at the Northeast Town Recreation Centre. Mr. Van Camp is the Northern Ontario ambassador for Pickleball Canada and Mr. Mohan was researching pickleball options in Canada online when he realized he's be in the same community as Mr. Van Camp and contacted him. The Little Current and area pickleball club put together a special game to involve Mr. Mohan later that afternoon.

Author tag team

Local author and photographer Jan McQuay and writer and poet Ann Carson teamed up on Tuesday to provide an afternoon of insights and discussion. Ann Carson's book 'We All Become Stories,' created from interviews with elderly people on the insights that come with age, provided food for discussion. Jan McQuay's readings from 'Scenic Manitoulin Through the Seasons,' accompanied by photos of Manitoulin's alvars, lakes and sandhill cranes, provided new perspectives on the Island. Left to right are library staffers Joan Ralph and Jerry Carlisle with Marion Seabrook (seated), Ann Carson, Jan McQuay and Marilyn Haner.

Tehkummah Talk and Times

(Last week) I met a sweet young lady named Mary Jane at Country Fest. She was a volunteer in the kids’ playland area and said her feet were sore. She had been there all day. She didn’t have a chair to sit down on! I watched the artistic lady paint some designs on some older ladies’ arms. I was going to get one on me and say I had gotten a tattoo? She was very good! The volunteers need to be commended, from the garbage clean up, the transporters, and those guys that kept the bathrooms and paper supplies all handled. Even the grounds looked cleaner. Maybe more people disposed of their own garbage (and so they should) this year.

Sunday—Sherry and the family were back at the camp for the garden, doing a clean up and reno.

Boy oh boy, we’ve sure had some cold nights already. I’m still waiting for spring. The darned tomatoes are rotting. I did get another ripe one. Mum sure got a big one from her plants.

Hello Faye Chatwell, Pearl and Don!

Helen Oswald called this morning. Said they had a nice turnout for Kicking Mule Ranch on Friday evening. A surprise when Cathy (Duinker) came to her door. A Manitoulin Reunion for five of their family. And Shauna landed safely in Dubai (not the right name, but) for a year or two of teaching there. God Bless! Five new grandkids this year!

Monday afternoon—I went to Gore Bay with Sherry, Tara and Skylar. Kim went in his van. He and Kathy put the new bed together. Really nice! We saw their garden, yard, and the new baby kittens, a little cinder, and a pretty mottled tiger. Her name will probably be Lily? The yard has a nearby stream and beautiful scenic stump, and ferns. Alisha went with us to the deck on the waterfront, “The Buoy.” We had a great lunch. It was a nice day for sitting outside. We stopped and visited Everett at the hospital on the way back home.

He is a good guard dog against earwigs and ? Jaxon found out the hard way you don’t bite into a toad! He sure was doing a lot of spitting.

Someone left a huge puffball by my car door over at the hall on Wednesday. I cooked (fried) some for supper. Dip in beaten egg, and roll slices in cracker crumbs. If you do get one and have never tried them, make sure the flesh is pure white and firm to the touch. Peel the slices. If you like mushrooms, you’ll like this gift from Mother Earth.

Another Wednesday come and gone. The food just gets better and better. I don’t know who brings what, but thank you all. And it does seem to disappear like magic. We had six and three quarters tables. Pat Norton played with “Dolly” (the invisible), so I got to play with her mom (ours) Laura. We, incidentally came in with top honours, 935 points; second, Eileen and Ruth, 923 points; third, Janet and Glenn, 916 points; fourth, Melissa and Rose, 912 points; low, Bill and Ruth, 853 points. Today, Ruth McDonald won the high hand with 28. Exceptional! Our door prize draw winners were Ruth McDonald, Cal Pyette and Del Vanhorn. Please join us on Wednesday. You’ll have fun!

Happy birthday to Pat Norton on August 18.

Island survivors to hold support meeting for women affected by cancer

by Robin Burrridge

KAGAWONG—A group of breast cancer survivors on Manitoulin are holding a support potluck and meet and greet later this month in Kagawong for other Island women affected by cancer.

“The women of the Circle of Hope (an Island support group for women with breast cancer), which I belong to, are looking to expand and support all women on Manitoulin who have or have been touched by all forms of cancer,” explained breast cancer survivor Mary Buie, who was the focus of The Expositor’s column ‘Following Hope’s Path,’ chronicling Ms. Buie’s year-long battle with breast cancer. “We want to help more people, so we are holding this potluck and have been promoting it with lots of ads and posters across the Island.”

“Now that I’ve come through it (cancer) I know the importance of having a support group to talk about what I went through with other women who had similar experiences,” continued Ms. Buie. “It’s reassuring. Once you finish treatment it’s important to stay healthy and positive, but you definitely need support.”

Personally, Ms. Buie is doing well, staying fit and having fun.

“My husband John and I just got back from Kitchener celebrating the birth of our first granddaughter,” said Ms. Buie, adding that the pair are already blessed with three grandsons. “I am really enjoying life and have the best garden I’ve had in years, which I use to eat and stay healthy. Things are wonderful.”

The potluck and meet and greet is being held on August 24 from 3 to 6 pm at the Kagawong Park Centre and is for all women affected by cancer, their families and supporters. For further information please call 705-368-3030, 705-282-0356 or email mary@buie.ca.

Tuesday afternoon at Sandfield they were setting up for the Manitoulin Streams meeting later that evening while we were setting up for afternoon cribbage. We play one on one here so we have a contrast between our two days of games. A nice crowd of folks. I won high hand, 24; first, Janet; second, Ted; third, Glenn; low, Mum (Jean); door prize, Ruth.

Happy birthday to my granddaughter Tara on August 18.

Now for the Tehkummah euchre results. Reuben and Jeneen were on K.P. Good lunch as always. Men’s lone hands, 6, Rick; men’s high, 87, Rick; men’s low, 44, Dave James; ladies’ high, Barb Forth, 82; ladies’ lone hands, Lyla, 5; ladies’ low, Irene James (Marilyn and I thought we’d win low. I played as a man again); door prize, Annette. This Thursday Tehkummah tournament (how’s that for four “T: words in a row?”) on August 21.

Lori said my brother-in-law Everett Hall passed away last night (Friday) around 12:30 am. Sympathy to Lori and Rick and all the rest of my nieces and nephews and their families. He has been in and out of the hospital many times since last year (C.O.P.D.).

Sherry picked me up in the morning and we dropped in for a few minutes. Susan went in early, just for a shoulder.

In the afternoon I was Betty Jean’s partner at the Manitowaning euchre tournament. She took Audrie and Dorothy too. They both came home as prizewinners. Audrie and Dave won top prize, Dorothy and Ted came in second, and Dorothy won the door prize. They let me off at Cal’s on the way home. Cole was just heading for Providence Bay Fair territory.

After we had our supper at Carol’s and Earl’s, we stopped at Mum’s for a small visit, then down to Lori and Rick’s. Stopped Rick from his mowing. Cal got to admire their new Impala. Nice car! We played cribbage, guys against girls. The guys came out on the winning side. I came out stronger though, later, the next three games against Cal.

Susan and I both picked on Mum on Thursday evening with Susan coming out the big winner.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Rhonda and Wayne! Marg and Jim arrived on scene from Elliot Lake today to help Tara celebrate her birthday on Monday.

Smelled skunk outside Mum’s apartment this morning. Figured Susan had been there and beat her. So I figured she’d be an easy mark, so I challenged her and she “skunked” me! She beat me good after church as well. June McDougall was our minister today. Just Mum and I at Carol’s and Earl’s for lunch today. Worked in the yard a bit when I got home. Refilled “hum” bird feeders again too. Birds are flocking up already.

Will your Manitoulin Community
be ready for this year's

HARVEST GLORY DAYS

FALL DECORATING
COMPETITION?

In 2013, the first year of the challenge, the winners were:

SPRING BAY
in the small category

MANITOWANING
in the large category

Runner-up was the community of Aundeck Omni Kaning First Nation

HERE'S A BIG HINT:

All of these winning communities had a local champion who decided to drive the process of decorating their towns, First Nations or hamlets to involve homes, businesses, churches, community halls, etc., so there was a consistency in how the fall harvest theme was reflected.

RIGHT NOW

You can plan where you'll collect your pumpkins for display, borrow hay or straw bales, build scarecrows and get some corn stalks so you can do your bit to put your community in the running for HARVEST GLORY DAYS 2014

As last year, this is a friendly competition organized by The Manitoulin Expositor in the interests of fostering local pride and giving tourist visitors another reason to visit our communities this fall.

As in 2013, the communities will be judged the week following THANKSGIVING WEEKEND (week of October 12 - 18) and, again like last year, the winning communities (one large, one small) will each receive a permanent custom-made road sign that will proclaim your community is PACKED FULL OF COMMUNITY SPIRIT!

We will ask participating communities and individual decorating efforts within these communities, to register with The Manitoulin Expositor so there will again be an online registration form as well as a print version that can be mailed (or faxed) to The Expositor Office.

YES! I will be decorating our (please check as applicable):

☐ Business or Organization (please give name): _____

☐ Home ☐ Church ☐ Community Hall ☐ Other (please specify): _____

Providence Bay News and Notes

Rick and Wendy Hibma from London, former residents of Providence Bay, are here visiting their many friends.

The Providence Bay Fair was well attended as the rain held off for the parade and Sunday. We saw the many quilts, flowers, and baked goods displayed and found it very well done.

Daryl and Josee-Anne Hunt along with their children Hadison, Ethan and Carter are visiting George and Jocelyne Nuske at Providence Bay Tent and Trailer Park. Ethan will also be celebrating a birthday on August 22.

The Providence Bay Library will be closed for a month or until further notice. Anyone with books to return there may take them to the Mindemoya location. Please remember our seniors and veterans by either calling them or visiting them. If you have any news please call Gloria at 705-377-4449.

Canfax launches new livestock app

Cattle producers all along the supply chain now have access to a new, free market prices mobile app based on historical Canfax data. CFXPro is for those looking to have access to breakeven calculators, price projections, as well as standard market information on Canadian cattle. The CFX Pro app is available free at iTunes and BlackBerry World.

2014 Agricornp forage yield trial

Agricornp is looking for producers to be part of their forage yield collection trial this year to help validate current plan design and help review the feasibility of collecting yields for a possible measured forage insurance plan in the future. They would be looking for the following initial information from producers: farm information including location (township, county), soil type and end use, field information including stand age, variety, fertility, and number of intended cuts. For each cut, they would like the following information: cut date, harvest type (bale size/haylage), number of bales, weight of bales (weighed or estimated), moisture level (measured or estimated) and any comments on quality (rained on etc.). They would also like to get a sense of price for any sold/purchased hay. For more details about the trial, and how to participate, please contact Debbie Brander: debbie.brandr@agricorp.com, 519-826-3616, 1-888-247-4999 or fax: 519-826-4118 (attention Debbie Brander).

Spring Bay Rural Route

August 18—Last week was a very cool week.

The Agriculture Fall Fair at Providence Bay on the weekend went over well. We had some rain on Saturday morning, but it cleared in time for the parade and things went as scheduled. There were lots of nice floats for the parade, and the band from Sudbury headed the parade. The exhibit hall had a good showing and the flowers were lovely. The entertainment was good all week and much enjoyed. The cow patty bingo went over well and the spots were sold. David McAllister was the winner. The quilt ticket was drawn and Lyle Dewar was the winner. Congratulations to them! There were a lot of light horses at the show on Sunday. Ava Assinewai from Manitowaning won two firsts and one third. They all did very well. It was a good fair, and the rain held off.

Get well wishes to Sherry Bond, who was in the hospital in Sudbury after having a heart attack. She is to come home this week.

A number of people are attending the Prime Time service and dinner at Abby's Restaurant today (Monday).

Get well to all who are sick and shut in.

Propane is a gas, but the Traegers are Smokin Hot BBQs

TRAEEGER®

CANADA

WOOD PELLET GRILLS

www.traegercanada.com

- Barbecued meats and vegetables are cooked by heat and smoke generated by the clean burning pellets.
- Meat and poultry can be flavoured as you wish by burning solid wood pellets: e.g. apple, cherry, hickory, maple, mesquite, oak, pecan...
- Cooking foods by wood pellet-generated heat and smoke makes it virtually impossible to burn your meat.

Comparable in price to any quality gas barbecue!
