Low oxygen still a concern in L. Manitou

by Michael Erskine

SANDFIELD—The Old Sandfield Schoolhouse Hall was, as is traditionally the case, filled to capacity by members of the Lake Manitou Area Association (LMAA) and community at 7 pm on August 8 as they gathered eagerly to learn more about the state of their lake. In any event, the news is not great for future development on the Island's largest lake.

This year, the topic on LMAA agenda was entitled 'More Secrets from the Depths of Lake Manitou Part II,' delivered by Queen's University PhD candidate Clare Nelligan, who brought to the table a clear and concise presentation that outlined the findings to date of her study of sediment cores taken from the bottom of Lake Manitou's east and west basins. Despite the scientifically complex nature of her work,

Ms. Nelligan was able to effectively share the information she has interpreted to date.

"The sediment acts like a natural archive," she explained. Information is contained within the layers in the form of the remaining traces of the plant and animal life contained within those layers. "Lots of things live in the lake itself, they die and become trapped in the sediment."

An innovative coring machine is lowered to the lake bottom and then hammered home with a dropped weight that seals the top of the tube "just like you would by putting your finger over the top of a straw," she said

MINDEMOYA—The Mindemoya Hospital Auxiliary has donated a second $50,000 cheque to the Manitoulin Health Centre (MHC) Telemetry Campaign, bringing the total donation to the campaign from the auxiliary to a whopping $100,000.

"The auxiliary has been supporting this initiative in a big way," said MHC CEO Derek Graham. "They donated $50,000 last year to the campaign and another $50,000 today. These donations

Northern Stone asks Assiginack to help maintain unopened roadway

Quarry operator clear that potential is in place for major economic driver

by Michael Erskine

ASSIGINACK—Tracy Thomas knows her stone and she knows that with the assets in the ground at her Jay Bryant quarry she is sitting on a potential economic boom for Manitoulin Island that is unmatched by any other to be found in Assiginack. But while they may say that good help is hard to find, that is especially help trained in the niche skills required by a quarry, Ms. Thomas has a plan to deal with that, provided she can get a little help from her governments.

Ms. Thomas recently played host to one of the largest gatherings of public and private funders assembled to tour a project on Manitoulin, courtesy of the good officers of LAMBAC, the Island's Community Futures Development Corporation.

"We are looking at ways to help the business," confirmed LAMBAC manager Michael Addison. "We are trying to bring partners together. In three years this is the first time we have been able to assemble that large a group at the same time."

Bringing that large of a group together is vital to finding the pathway to success as the scale of the project would likely far outstrip the available resources of any of the individual federal and provincial agencies. But by working together in concert and finding synergies where they may be able to intertwine, along with some innovative partnerships with local organizations that may go a long way toward dealing with transportation issues.

One of the major stumbling blocks for the Northern Natural Stone expansion is the state of the road leading into the operation. Jay Bryant Sideroad lies about 25 kilometres south of Little Current off of Highway 6. It, like many Island sideroads, is not an "official" municipal road. It is an unopened road allowance with a road use agreement between the Township of Assiginack and a previous owner of the property/business that stipulates the business owner assumes

Misery Bay Provincial Park Visitors' Centre celebrates opening of new exhibit

by Donald Harry Roberts

MISERY BAY—It was a who's who event on Wednesday, August 2 at the Misery Bay Visitors Centre for the opening of the new world class exhibit that was initiated eight years ago and was nurtured through a two phase and five step plan. The camaraderie and excitement of the day was well defined by every speaker who took to the podium.

And it all began with a boisterous, heartfelt rendering of 'O Canada' by the dozens that attended the gala event.

Among the speakers, all of whom added their own mark to the moment were (in order of appearance), Special Projects Leader for the Friends of Misery Bay (FOMB) and master of ceremonies, John Diebolt, Ryan Gardner, Parks Superintendent with Ontario Parks, Mark Serre, Nickel Belt MP, Carol Hughes MP for Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing, Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Michael Mantha, Lisa Addison of the Ontario Trillium Foundation, and Pentti Palonen, deputy reeve of Burpee-Mills Township.

Phase one of the exhibit display project was made possible by a partnership involving FOMB, Ontario Parks and Science North. It consisted of a 40-inch, multi-layer interactive viewing screen which allows the park's visitors to enjoy part of the park simply by touching a screen.

Phase two, which was installed by Science North, is now complete and ready for visitors to enjoy and is accessible to everyone including handicapped visitors. This ultra-technological interpretive centre is a world-class exhibit.

With the interpretive centre fully functional visitors can enjoy a virtual tour of the park and plan what areas they would like to focus on. The exhibits, many of which are interactive, show the special features of this park, starting with the limestone pavement which is the basis of the rare alvar habitat, to the unusual wetlands and the forest.

They cover the fascinating history of the limestone, with its origins over 400 million years ago in an ancient shallow sea, through last glacial age and the changing shores in what is now the Great Lakes, to the present-day species at risk that inhabit the park.

"Misery Bay on the surface does not have the wow factor of Niagara Falls or the Rocky Mountains; it's more of a place someone has to slow down and feel what Misery Bay has to offer and let it come to you," stated Mr. Diebolt.

Mr. Diebolt went on to thank

Team Jacobs at Northern Credit Union today

Come on out and show your support for the gold medal curling champions at the Northern Credit Union offices

by Michael Erskine

MANITOULIN—Team Jacobs members were introduced to the sport of curling at a very young age and are very much a family operation, with three members of the same family filling the roster.

The rink consists of Ryan Harnden, Ryan Fry, Brad Jacobs and E. J. Harnden.

"We were all considered rink rats, eager to learn from the family members who introduced us to the sport and never wanting to go home until we were forced to leave," notes the team's website. "We were all very fortunate to have someone in our lives who participated in national-level competitions and individuals who not only helped us develop our own game, but more importantly acted as inspirations for us to model ourselves around and strive to achieve similar success."

The team takes its curling very seriously and follows a training regime that places them squarely in the top athletic tier as befits an Olympic sport.

"At the end of the day we are four young men who are chasing their dreams and beyond any success we achieve for ourselves," continues the website, "our hope is that along the way we inspire others to do the same, whether it is in the sport of curling or anything else."

Their winning attitude has certainly paid off as evinced by their list of accomplishments, which are impressive in addition to being the 2014 Olympic gold medallists, they are also the 2013 Tim Hortons Roar of The Rings (Men's Olympic curling trials) champions; 2013 Ford Men's World Championship

Team Jacobs will be at Northern Credit Union in Little Current and Mindemoya today, August 23.

They are also H.P. Broughton Award winners (Sportsperson of the year for Sault Ste. Marie); have been inducted into the Sault Ste. Marie sports hall of fame and have a star on the Sault Ste. The story behind the spelling of Wiikwemkoong

The famous line from Shakespeare’s ‘Romeo and Juliet’ “What’s in a name?” proposes that “a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.” But names hold far more within their bounds than scent, colour or thorns. With the publishing of each weekly edition of The Expositor the phones begin to ring, as concerned readers call to inform us that we have misspelled “Wikwemikong.” We haven’t—we are endeavouring to use the correct spelling.

Those who follow these pages closely will have noticed a number of changes that this news organization is implementing when it comes to our reporting of news in Manitoulin’s largest and oldest community. The Expositor rarely uses the official Canadian designation of Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territories as “Wikwemikong Unceded Indian Reserve” as that title is both historically inaccurate and offensive to a good number of the members of that First Nation. Wiikwemkoong is also more accurate representation of that community’s name in the common script.

These changes can sometimes be unsettling for those who have known Wiikwemkoong as Wikwemikong all of their lives, and readers might well wonder why The Expositor would make such a change, after all, what’s in a name? Plenty.

The very first thing an Anishinabe person will say in striking up a conversation with someone they do not know, after the formal boozhoo or informal aanii, is their name, their community, their clan and even the names of their parents and grandparents. The Anishinaabe place themselves within the constellation of the larger First Nation community so that the other person they are meeting knows who they are and where they come from. A lot of history is encapsulated in names—and a lot of pride.

Now a close observer will note that there is some inconsistency in the use of Wiikwemkoong and Wikwemikong in the paper. When an organization’s official name, such as the Wikwemikong Tribal Police, we will usually use that name until it has been officially changed by that organization. But largely we will endeavour to use the spelling preferred by that community. This is not a nod to “political correctness,” it is simply correct and there is no compelling reason to not be accurate and a host of good reasons to not continue a historical wrong.

In the grand scheme of things, it may be a small effort on our part to help set things right, to correct a wrong that is symbolic of so many wrongs that still block the path to reconciliation in our nation and closer to home here on Manitoulin Island. Just as we were quick to adopt the name changes of West Bay to M’Chigeeng, of Sucker Creek to Aundeck Omni Kaning (stay tuned, according to local language authorities this one will likely need tweaking in the future), so we are making every effort to adopt the change in spelling of Wiikwemkoong. It is not an exact science and there is no official lexicon or authority to which we can defer, so bear with us as we take ginger steps along this path.

This paper has also recently changed the capitalization on the word Indigenous. While we have long capitalized the word Native, when used as an appellation for Anishinabe, or any of the other nations indigenous to these territories, we have been slow to adopt the term Indigenous the way we would the terms French or English for those nationalities. It is a fundamental declaration of this paper’s recognition of the nation to nation relationships that are the foundation of Canada.

The Expositor often utilizes Anishinabe terms, such as ogimaa for chief, the aforementioned Anishinabe as a group term representing the Three Fires of the Ojibwe, Odawa and Potawatamie, sometimes with a bracketed translation to assist those who may be unfamiliar with those terms. We are far from perfect or consistent in this policy, so again, please bear with us.

A rose by any other name might smell as sweet, but when it comes to the use of words to convey information, the choice of words used and how they are presented can say a lot. As we move along the path to building a mutually respectful relationship between the descendants of the original inhabitants of this land we call Canada and those who came later, and as an organization whose very foundation is based on words and striving to get things right.

So thank you to those who call The Expositor to correct any errors that might appear within the reports we deliver to our faithful readers, and please do continue to call us out when we get something wrong to keep us on our toes, but in the case of the spelling of Wiikwemkoong, this newspaper stands by its story.

The Virginia protests, violence are no coincidence

‘We can all blame President Trump for that’

To the Expositor:
It’s about time to say some things about President Trump. It’s so tiring to see this president coming on the news with all his bullying tactics; he is doing this to everybody. And then I saw what happened in the State of Virginia.

It all has to do with President Trump’s racist campaigning that he did to get into office. We can all blame President Trump for that and I hope the lawmakers in the States will find a way to remove this nutcase out of office. He is a very dangerous man to hold office, even though it’s not any of my business to say some things, but I have never seen anything like this before from a leader.

It’s just very bad behaviour what this president is doing and it’s very shameful to see this. I have seen kids behaving badly, but President Trump takes the cake, he is worse than any I have seen.

Dave Groleau of the Federation of Records of Ontario Wildlife measures racks at last year's Deer Show.

MANITOWANING—The Manitoulin Deer Show is back for its fourth year! Taking place in Manitowaning at the arena on Sunday, August 27. This year Assiginack has gone all out on prizes for the many different events. The show runs from 10 am to 3 pm ending with a huge selection of great door prizes that include a gun safe, firearm and much more.

The day starts off with the Kids Wilderness Challenge with $1,000 in prizes donated by Robert Cranston Construction and Ralf Island Truck Parts. “If you have a deer mount, please bring it in,” urges Deer Show organizer Jackie White. “Everyone that brings in a deer mount will qualify for the chance to win a firearm (one ticket per mount, enter three mounts maximum). Last year we had over 100 mounts adorn the arena walls, and hope for even more this year! It is so interesting to walk around and see the skill of the local hunters on Manitoulin Island.” The draw is at 2 pm and you must be present to win.

“The Wild Game Cook Off with our now famous judges is back!” Ms. White continued. “This year, thanks to Jake’s Home Centre, there is a camo freezer up for grabs! Also included in the winning prize is a crock pot, knives and a meat saw. Bring in a dish using wild game and enter to win.

History Day

Kagawong History Day brought Mike Pearson back to Manitoulin

by Michael Erskine

KAGAWONG—Audiences attending the History Day in Kagawong presentations are always treated to a fascinating glimpse back through the mists of time, but this year the rear view mirror displayed a very familiar face for many in the seats—that of the late Liberal Prime Minister the Honourable Lester Bowles Pearson, known simply as “Mike” to many Islanders, and who represented Manitoulin as a federal MP for 20 years.

Mr. Pearson’s life and times was illuminated through the lens of those who knew him best, with his granddaughter Patricia Pearson delivering the keynote address and a number of close Pearson family members in attendance. Sitting in the front row were Landon Carter (Lucy) Pearson, the daughter-in-law of the former prime minister through her marriage to his son Geoffrey Pearson; Barbara Hannah (another Pearson granddaughter) and her partner Gwen Shandroski; as well as Patricia Pearson’s husband Ambrose Pottie.

The evening began with a greeting by Old Mill Heritage Centre curator Rick Nelson, who acted as emcee for the evening. An official welcome was provided by Billings Museum Board Chair Dianne Fraser, who read an official communication and congratulations from Prime Minister Justin Trudeau who regretted not being able to attend.

The main event of the evening, however, was the keynote address by Pearson granddaughter and writer Patricia Pearson who took the audience back through the mists of time to provide an intimate perspective on the man who, as an eight-year-old child knew her grandfather first and foremost through “the smell of his blazer and the merriment in his voice.”

She described a man who was “unpretentious,” but with whom “you always knew where you stood.”

“He was playful, but brilliant,” she said. She described a man who, in counterpoint to what is going on south of the border these days, spent a lot of his time in thoughtfulness and “was not a bully.”

The people of Manitoulin and East Algoma responded by embracing his philosophy of building a better more peaceful world “and the world is better for it.”

Throughout her presentation, Ms. Pearson returned to the theme that, thanks to the continued support of Mike Pearson, Canada has its own iconic flag, a universal healthcare system that Canadians repeatedly identify as their proudest national institution and bilingualism, which is currently once again growing across the nation.

But Ms. Pearson also dispelled any inclination to see her grandfather through a total rose tint. While he was often far ahead of his time with his vision and consensual approach to government (a good thing as he never enjoyed a majority government), he was also a man of his time.

Ms. Pearson alluded to the Algoma Fishing Club an artifact whose sole unspoken raison d’être was to funnel funds to offset the extra expenses incurred by the party leader outside of his official government (or party) role. “It was probably totally illegal,” admitted Ms. Pearson to loud laughter from the audience.

Ms. Pearson said that her

Journalist Patricia Pearson, granddaughter of Lester B. Pearson, was the keynote speaker at History Day in Kagawong.

father was always characterized by outsiders as the CEO, but that his own often espoused role was more often expressed as the janitor.

One of his proudest moments, noted Ms. Pearson, was the presentation of a sacred eagle feather by the community of Wiikwemkoong.

Barbara Hannah, another Pearson granddaughter, was also at the presentations, spoke briefly about the man she “knew as a grandfather.”

She recalled asking her grandfather to give her a shout out while giving a major speech. He told her that would not be possible. But then he said, ‘I will give you a signal, I will tap the side of my nose’,” she recalled. As the 12-year-old watched the speech closely she saw him reach up and tap the side of his nose.

In another anecdote that painted a picture of the man, the dotting grandfather, she recalled how she was an avid hockey fan and would watch the games with her grandfather at 24 Sussex Drive. One evening the championship game between rivals the Montreal Canadians (her favourites) and their arch rivals the Toronto Maple Leafs would go long past her bedtime. While Mr. Pearson made no attempt to overrule her parents, he demonstrated his diplomatic skills by promising to leave her a note with the score and who the three stars of the game were.

When she awoke in the morning she found a note with all of the promised information contained therein pinned to her pillow.

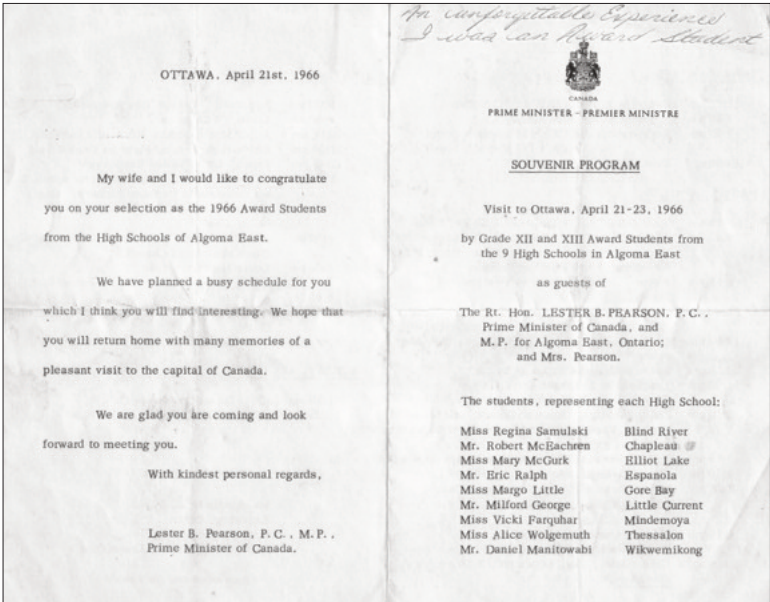

Ms. Hannah also recalled the day her grandfather came home from a flight he shared with John Lennon bearing a ‘War is Over’ poster signed by the famed member of the Beatles and his wife Yoko Ono. The teenaged Ms. Hannah, an avid Beatles fan, was overjoyed when her grandfather presented her with the poster.

History Day in Kagawong presentations were segmented in half by light refreshments and a chance to engage in conversation and/or take in the many exhibits on hand at the Park Centre, including the aforementioned signed ‘War is Over’ poster.

The second half of the lectures included “never before seen” film footage of a 1966 school trip by nine Grade 12 and 13 Algoma-East high school students (one deserving student from each of the riding’s high schools) that included sometime Expositor contributor Margo Little (Gore Bay, who was at the matinee session), Milford George (Little Current), Vicki Farquhar (Mindemoya, who was at the evening session), Daniel Manitowabi (Wiikwemkoong), Regina Samulski (Blind River), Robert McEachren (Chapleau), Mary McGurk (Elliot Lake) and Alice Wolgemuth (Thessalon).

The prime minister’s message read, “My wife and I would like to congratulate you on your election as the 1966 Award students from the high schools of Algoma East. We have planned a busy schedule for you which I think you will find interesting. We hope that you will return home with many memories of a pleasant visit to the capital of Canada. We are glad you are coming and look forward to meeting you.” It was signed “With kindest personal regards, Lester B. Pearson, P.C., M.P., Prime Minister of Canada.”

And what an interesting time was had over the following two days, as the students not only met Mr. Pearson in his office, they had lunch with the prime minister and his wife, toured the parliament buildings, climbed the Peace Tower, met with then Governor General Georges Vanier (who looked every inch the French Canadian patriarch), but also joined the prime minister at his Harrington Lake cottage retreat and got an up close and personal private viewing of the famed RCMP Musical Ride as they rehearsed.

Following a review of the film, the audience was treated to a slide show narrated by Mr. Nelson that featured photographs from the past (including a photo of Mr. Pearson reading The Expositor that Mr. Nelson exhorted the newspaper to rerun on its front page) and the presentation of a sacred eagle feather to Prime Minister Pearson.

Following the evening talks, formal and informal, there were two special presentations made. One was of a framed selection of photographs from the Pearson family to long-time family friend Billings Mayor Austin Hunt and the second a bouquet of flowers from the museum board to the Pearson family.

Mrs. Pearson recalled her late father-in-law as an exceptional human being and leader of men who the world will likely not see again, but whose guidance is sorely needed in these troubled times. A sentiment shared by most of those present in the hall.

The Lester B. Pearson Exhibit, which includes a scaled down replica of Mr. Pearson’s home private office that features many of the artifacts from the original office on loan from the Government of Canada, can be seen free of charge (donations gratefully accepted) at the Old Mill Heritage Centre Museum in Kagawong, from 9 am to 4:30 pm until October 7.

Northeast Town Council Notes

Recreation centre rate increase

Council carried a motion to approve a recommendation from the community services and public works committee to increase the Little Current Recreation Centre rates by two percent. Councillor Bill Koehler requested a recorded vote on the motion with Councillors Laurie Cook, Michael Erskine, Marcel Gauthier,

Little Current arsonist denied bail after breach of probation

Clinton Haggart, age 34 of Sudbury, was denied bail in a Sudbury court last week after his surprise, and illegal, appearance in Little Current during Haweater Weekend.

The man, found guilty of purposely setting fire to three Little Current properties in 2014, had been denied access to Little Current as part of his sentencing earlier this year but, just days after getting out of the Sudbury jail for a separate charge of assault and breach of probation, Mr. Haggart was spotted in the community on Saturday, August 12.

Police were called and Mr. Haggart was arrested soon after, without incident.

Mr. Haggart was denied bail on August 10 and will make his first appearance in Gore Bay court on August 22 to answer to his newest charge of breach of probation.

Haweater Weekend a quiet one for OPP

The Haweater Weekend Festival celebrated its 50th anniversary between August 4 and August 7. The annual festival, which occurs in Little Current, was once again a successful and well attended event on scenic Manitoulin Island.

Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) members responded to 83 calls for service in the Little Current Detachment area over the course of the weekend. A strategic operational plan resulted in proactive police activities combined with direct patrols and enforcement efforts by Manitoulin OPP, S.A.V.E and H.S.D members. These efforts resulted in the 17 arrests including the apprehension of one impaired driver, 10 Criminal Code charges and 35 Liquor Licence Act charges were also laid. The majority of the calls for service involved minor incidents related to noise complaints and Liquor Licence Act offenses. There were no reports criminal code related incidents at any of the Haweater Festival venues.

Manitoulin OPP Detachment Commander Staff Sgt. Kevin Webb extended his appreciation to all the volunteers. He said, “Our members value and are committed to the partnership between the OPP and event organizers to ensure a safe, secure and enjoyable event for everyone.”

Dawn Orr, Paul Skippen, Bruce Wood and Mayor MacNevin voted in favour of the increase, while Councillors Koehler and Melissa Peters voted against it.

“I’m opposing it because I feel the increase is too low,” said Councillor Peters.

“I’m opposing it because I feel it is too high,” added Councillor Koehler.

“I don’t like raising it, but small incremental increases to the rates is better than just leaving it and having to do a big raise,” said Councillor Erskine.

Speed reduction

Council carried a motion to amend Bylaw 2015-32 as amended in November 2016 to reduce the speed from 836

North Channel Drive to 80 Cedar Cove from 60 km/h to 20 km/h.

Meeting rescheduled

Council rescheduled the Tuesday, August 15 and Thursday, August 17 meetings to Tuesday, August 22, due to the mayor and a number of councillors being away at a conference.

Country Fest donation

The organizers of Manitoulin Country Fest, Kelly and Craig Timmermans wrote a letter to council stating that they were disappointed council had decided not to donate all the requested items from their deputation earlier in the summer.

In the letter, the Timmermans made it clear that Country Fest is a not-for-profit organization and asked council to reconsider the donation of the NIM bins and chairs.

Town CAO Dave Williamson responded to inquiries from council that the dollar value of the donation would equal $1,200 and would need to come from the town’s donation line.

Councillor Orr asked how much there was left in the donation budget. Mr. Williamson responded $730.

“I maintain that our donation budget is misnamed,” said Councillor Erskine. “We use those funds to make investments into the community and our ‘donation’ budget line is too low. I think this is a worthwhile investment into our community and has very good economic impact on our community—it helps employ youth and has positive economic impacts.”

Council carried a motion to donate $1,200 to Manitoulin Country Fest.

Pride Manitoulin

Council reviewed a letter from Pride Manitoulin requesting council approve the Pride parade route for August 20 at 11 am and permission to close the streets as the parade moves through town. The route will see the parade start at the Manitoulin Hotel and Conference Centre at Sim Street, continue down Water Street and end at the Little Current United Church on Robinson Street.

The group also asked that council consider adding one or two temporary rainbow crosswalks to downtown Little Current.

Mr. Williamson explained that he spoke with the manager of public works and that it would cost roughly $500 to paint one.

Councillor Koehler expressed concern with the legality of painting the crosswalk.

Councillor Erskine thought it was a great idea, but noted that time was Laidley to wear an “A”!

Little Current’s Michael Laidley has been honoured as a sophomore to be selected as an Assistant Captain for the Division 1, St. Lawrence University Saints of the NCAA. Michael is currently listed at 5 ft. 11 inches and weighs in at a solid 192 pounds. He is expected to have a great 2017-18 after coming off of major surgery. Good luck, Michael.

Panther Points
The Manitoulin Bantam Panthers are having a Bantam skate to fill some roster spots. Players must contact Head Coach Steve Campbell to register.
The Manitoulin Novice Panthers are having an Interest Skate on August 28 at 6 pm in Espanola. Players are asked to contact Development Director Scott Stephens to inform him of their interest.
The Atom Panthers will be attending a tournament in Richmond Hill in September and are planning exhibition games in the next few weeks. This is a team hockey fans will want to come out and watch. They are very excited to get the season started and will be bringing their best to the ice. They have been working hard all summer individually and will be working very hard as a team in the next few weeks to be ready to start their season. They are looking to compete fiercely all season in league play and in various tournaments with hopes to host the Atom B 2018 NOHA Tournament of Champions on home ice in March.
Unfortunately, due to a lack of interest in the head coaching position at the Midget division, the Manitoulin Panthers will not be icing a Midget team in 2017-18. All other Manitoulin Panther teams are beginning their season preparations with all teams starting formal dry land sessions in the next two weeks.

Summer Hockey
Kohyn Eshkawkogan has just returned from the Pro Hockey Development Group, Brick Evaluation Camp. He had a good showing and was +5 after three Blue/White games. His solid defensive play has proven he is one of the top 2008 born defensemen in Ontario. After helping his team tie the eventual Kings of the Rings tournament champions, he also helped lead his team to a Silver Consolation win in the 2008 Elite AAA division this past weekend. Kohyn had 3 points and a +6 rating in 5 games. This, along with his very smart defensive choices, showed he was one of the more dominant defenders in the tournament.
Delaney (Boogie) Bridgeman continued to hone her hockey skills which are considerable, as she attended the “Prospects” program this summer. In addition, she picked up some horse-riding abilities by spending a week in the Fierce Fillies Program at the Hidden Creek Ranch. This well-rounded athlete always works her hardest to improve in her many sports.

Baibomcowai fastball excellence
Lyle Baibomcowai continues to turn heads around the Nation for his defensive skills behind the plate as a catcher and at the plate as a valuable batter. As part of the Sagamok Hounds he won the Spanish Fastball Tourney trophy as well as the hoisting the tournament MVP.
House league hockey calls for help!
M’Chigeeng Minor Hockey is looking for interested persons to be a part of their executive. The organization needs a vice president, secretary and treasurer. At the team level, they also require coaches, managers and trainers for all of their teams for the 2017-18 hockey season. Please contact Jeff Bebonang in M’Chigeeng.

Young Eagles soar with veteran pilots at Manitoulin East Municipal Airport

by Michael Erskine
LITTLE CURRENT—If you ask those who have spent their lives flying above the clouds, they will tell you that they acquired their passion for flying at a very young age. As with most passions, those who have been bitten with the flying bug dearly want to share their love of flying with a new generation—enter the pilots of the Young Eagles youth flying program. Lloyd Richards of Timmins brought the Young Eagles program to Canada decades ago and, since then, has taken 2,500 young flyers up in his plane to experience the joy of soaring above the clouds. Mr. Richards continues to serve as the Experimental Aircraft Association Young Eagles field representative. This year's Young Eagles flights almost didn't take place, as 45-knot winds and intermittent rain on the originally scheduled flight day forced the cancellation of that day's flights. Fortunately, the next morning proved more amenable to taking to the air and 44 young aviators got the opportunity to go aloft. "Here in Little Current it's 15 for sure, might even be closer to 20," said Mr. Richards. "I made a commitment 25 years ago that I would take 1,000 kids up. Ten years ago we hit our first million and I had 1,000. We just kept going." This is the 25th anniversary of the Young Eagle program. "We kind of wanted to get 2,500," he said. "We have a special pin for anybody who flies 25 this year and I was short six. I got eight today so I'm good," he laughed. Katie and Maggie Chapman of Little Current are old hands at flying (their father Joe Chapman owned his own plane for a time). The two sisters are regulars at the Young Eagles flights and they were enthusiastic about the experience. "It was great," said Maggie, who is convinced her father will be buying a new plane when she gets a little older so she too can learn to fly. Following the flights there are hot dogs and pop while a flight certificate is filled out to commemorate the event. As part of the fundraising, Island artist Heli Cotnam created a painting of a plane in flight that was won in a silent auction by Bob White.

Mr. and Ms. Jan Gortzak and their daughter Kaitlyn, nine-years-old, loved their Young Eagles airplane ride with pilot Jeff Cartman who keeps his plane at the Sudbury airport. Mr. Cartman is following a long family tradition as his father Saul flew Young Eagles for years.

Assiginack will apply to FedNor on Burns Wharf Players' behalf

by Alicia McCutcheon
MANITOWANING—Assiginack passed a motion at its last meeting to put forward a grant application to FedNor on behalf of the Burns Wharf Theatre to see the facility turned into a four-season operation that will allow the theatre company to move back in. The grant application notes that, "the Township of Assiginack, in partnership with the Burns Wharf Theatre Committee, is seeking financial support to complete a renovation project to enhance the Burns Wharf Theatre building. The renovation will increase the building's use from a seasonal venue to a year-round venue; maximizing its usage and developing a four-season arts and tourism space." "The theatre has been closed since 2013 when, due to new provincial codes for heritage buildings, the township deemed the building unsafe because of fire and accessibility issues," the grant application continues. "Upgrades are required to meet accessibility and safety regulations. This is seen as an opportunity to develop a four-season tourist destination. The architect's report identified the following required renovations to ensure safety and accessibility: build and exterior ramp; install four exterior fire doors; interior renovation to create firebreak walls; create an accessible bathroom; renovate current bathrooms; improve existing green room and actors' change rooms. The exterior ramp accounts for a substantial amount of the renovation budget—about one-third of the funds being requested. The goal is to renovate this building into a safe, accessible and energy efficient year-round community arts space." After extolling its many virtues as a tourism destination, the grant application notes that the short-term goal is to renovate and be back in the theatre offering theatrical and musical performances, art and theatre workshops, summer programming, an arts and crafts retail space and artist-in-residence programs. "In five years, the goal is to develop Burns Wharf Theatre into a year-round vacation destination that benefits Manitowaning and surrounding communities through partnerships," the application continues. "Manitowaning needs an anchor business/attraction that encourages tourists to spend some time in the community. The goal of Burns Wharf Theatre is to offer programming and a variety of activities that appeal to visitors and local people." The estimated cost of the project is $750,000 with a FedNor contribution of $287,500 requested. The Township of Assiginack has pledged $60,000 toward the project, if funding is successful, with the Burns Wharf Theatre Players chipping in $15,000 generated through fundraising, including the company's ongoing Gilbert and Sullivan summer productions. These have been held the past two years at Deba-jehmujig. It is hoped the remainder will come from Heritage Canada, $262,500, and Trillium, $125,000. Councillor Leslie Fields noted the many references to a "four season" space. "Were the quotes provided sufficient for four seasons?" she asked. "No," CAO Alton Hobbs responded. "I find it slightly misleading," she said. Councillor Hugh Moggy reminded council that FedNor told the Players they would be more successful if it were four season. Council approved the grant application.

TEHKUMMAH—Picking up where the Perseids Meteor Party left off, the Manitoulin Star Party runs from Friday, August 18 to Monday, August 21 at Gordon’s Ecotourism Park.

The weekend begins with a wine and cheese welcome campfire on Friday, August 18 and with it a chance to get to know the great people that will be your neighbors, camping on-site in the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada’s (RASC) designated Dark Sky Preserve at this event. Then, familiarize yourself with the characters in the great drama of the universe with a guided astronomy session and laser sky tour.

As the sun sets, revel in the emergence of a great blanket of stars spreading from horizon to horizon in the darkest skies in Ontario, and let yourself be overwhelmed by the vastness of the universe around you as you have never seen it before. The Manitoulin Star Party also falls on the August new moon, which means little to no moon glow to steal the spotlight from the stars!

On Saturday evening, August 19, enjoy a potluck supper, where door prizes will be awarded, and mark the occasion with a group photo. Then head out to the Dark Sky Preserve for another night of viewing the night sky and learning about the astronomical wonders of our universe.

To finish off the Manitoulin Star Party, join Gordon’s Park for the Solar Eclipse Party, a once in a lifetime opportunity happening Monday, August 21 from 1 to 4 pm in the park’s designated Dark Sky Preserve.

Watch as the moon begins to travel between the earth and the sun at 1:06 pm with special eclipse glasses, which will be handed out free of charge (while supplies last), as well as get an opportunity to watch it happen live and up close through the park’s 8” Dobsonion telescope. The eclipse hits its maximum coverage (approximately 70 percent) at 2:25 pm and finishes off at 3:41 pm. Registration includes a livestream video through a solar telescope with RASC lifetime member Francois van Heerden for a unique opportunity to see the eclipse projected on a large screen.

Bring the whole family out to the Dark Sky Preserve to have a fun-filled time marveling at the beauty of our solar system. Explore your creative side by making an eclipse-themed mobile which represents the various stages of the eclipse. For the young, and the young at heart, face painting will also be available during the event to help you get into the eclipse spirit.

Call 705-859-2470 now to register, email rita@gordonspark.com for more information or visit the website at www.gordonspark.com, and find the park on Facebook at www.facebook.com/gordonspark.

spoke of vision about building community and stated, “when it comes to Manitoulin Island, they always get things done.”

Lisa Addison gave an inspirational speech including congratulating the FOMB for acquiring their capital grant from the Trillium Foundation for the construction and installation of the interpretive exhibit at the Misery Bay Visitors Centre.

Ms. Addison, along with Mr. Mantha, then presented Gaynor Orford with a Trillium Foundation plaque.

Michael Mantha was enthusiastic about the importance of Misery Bay and what it means to Manitoulin Island. He gave praise to everyone that participated in the installation of the new exhibition. He summed up his speech with, “you can get lost in the wow factor here at the park.”

“Misery Bay and the new exhibits are remarkable achievements,” stated Mr. Palonen. He described the park as a learning tool about the nature and natural progress of the park as it changes over time. He was passionate about explaining that the whole thing about the park was not about preserving it in its present state but allowing it to change naturally.

No ceremony is complete without a ribbon cutting ceremony. Several of the speakers formed a line with Gaynor Orford, past chairperson of the FOMB board, cutting the ribbon. The applause at the moment the scissors snipped the ribbon was nothing less than thunderous, created by the enthusiastic crowd.

One theme all of the speakers mentioned is the fact that Misery Bay and the Visitor’s Centre is an ongoing project.

“It’s really a mini Science North in the west end of Manitoulin Island,” said Ted Kilpatrick, FOMB chairperson. “The park is already a major attraction with its many trails, and the new exhibits make it a great destination even in inclement weather. Just as at Science North, the exhibits entertain and at the same time make learning fun. There’s something here to interest kids (and adults) at every age level.”

In the Wednesday, August 2 paper, the page 11 article ‘Manitoulin Physio Centre welcomes two new physiotherapists to the team,’ it lists the new building as 35,000, when it will in fact be 3,500 square feet. As well, Shanjid Hasan and Katlyn Glena met at Western University, not McMaster University. The Expositor regrets for these errors.

...Low oxygen still a concern in Lake Manitou

Using the science of paleolimnology (the study of the physical, chemical, and biological information preserved in freshwater deposits, primarily from lakes) those cores are divided up into a key chain of slices mere millimetres thick that can help trace the history of the lake's climate and environment back through the centuries.

To effect there is no arcane magic to this scientific crystal ball gazing, rather the secret lies in understanding the characteristics of the tiny creatures whose glasslike skeletons, teeth and chemical residue are secreted within those sediment slices.

Ms. Nelligan explained that there are miniscule creatures who thrive within very limited and distinct environments. Including, most especially, oxygen levels. But in order for those remains to be useful for investigative analysis, those creatures (or plants) must be very abundant. "So we can find it, there has to be a lot of them in the sediment," she said. "It also has to be something we can are able to infer information from. Pollen is good, as are certain types of zooplankton."

Other indicators from the sediment include physical characteristics of the layers, particularly colour; but also the chemical composition of the matter itself. "We normally look at the biological component," she said. There are species of candidates for study that thrive in a wide spectrum of conditions "but these don't help much," she said. Instead, the researchers focus on those whose lives are conducted within a very narrow set of conditions. By knowing those conditions and counting the number of those creatures (perhaps hundreds upon hundreds on a single prepared slide) that are contained within each slice, researchers can gain an accurate photograph of what was taking place in the lake ecology at a set point in the lake's history.

Three types of creatures/plants are examined: chironomids, diatoms and chlorophyll-a.

Chironomids are those non-biting midges that can be found in clouds around lakes. Their larva, bloodworms, are good indicators of oxygen levels.

Chlorophyll-a refers to the pigments to be found in plants. "It is what gives lakes that dark colour," she said.

Lake trout lakes are relatively rare, with only one percent of Ontario's 250,000 lakes playing host to the species. Ontario has 21 to 25 percent of the lake trout lakes worldwide. The species are fond of cold lakes of less than 15 degrees Celsius.

Between the influx of sulphur and oxygen depletion, lake trout environment "is being squished." Increased nutrients equals depleted oxygen. So, between the advent of global warming and the encroachment of human agriculture and urban sources of nutrients, Ontario's lakes are under severe pressure.

Ms. Nelligan explained the oxygen regeneration cycle, where the spring introduces new oxygen into the water; the summer months create a blanket of warm water that stops circulation and leads to lower levels and the fall, where the water cools and once again oxygen is mixed back into the water.

The west basin has a great deal of agricultural activity, while the east basin is much more heavily forested, she noted.

Interestingly, while preliminary study indicates a lot of variation in the historic levels, there is not a succinct finding of a trend.

Ms. Nelligan then explained the study of water is conducted through the use of a Secchi depth disc. Essentially a disc is lowered into the water until it disappears from view, then raised again until it appears. The measurement gives the depth of clarity in the lake.

Climate change is having a remarkable impact on Lake Manitou, with the number of ice free days dropping 21 days in the past 44 years. "That's half a day per year," said Ms. Nelligan. In geological terms that is hardly a blink of an eye.

Lake Manitou has benefited from a great deal of citizen science over the years and that has helped a lot with establishing some baselines as well.

At the end of summer, in 2011, the dissolved oxygen levels in the west basin was 2.5 milligrams while in the east basin it measured 6.2 milligrams. "Both fall below the standard," said Ms. Nelligan. That is what led the province to indicate the lake capacity was reached in 2017.

There are plenty of questions still to be answered, she noted. "Why are oxygen levels so low? Hopefully my research can inform the particular strategies."

Ms. Nelligan's work will be posted online at <http://post.queensu.ca/~pearl/>, but because of the labour intensive nature of the work and its complexity, it may be a matter of at least months if not years before all of it has been analyzed and posted.

will go a long way towards the overall cost of the project and will cover a huge portion of it at the Mindemoya site."

"We are very thankful to the people who support the auxiliary and enable us to make donations such as this," said Judy Mackenzie, auxiliary president. "We raise the funds through luncheons and teas held throughout the year, as well as raffles and also of people donate to us in remembrance of a loved one."

Mr. Graham explained the telemetry equipment is used for cardiac patient monitoring and that it is a mobile system, with patients wearing a device that provides patient's cardiac information back to the (nurses) monitoring station in the hospital.

"Our equipment had reached the end of its life," said Mr. Graham. "So it was something we had to replace rapidly."

piece and worked with the Island community through workshops to incorporate shared stories and photos into the sculpture.

Ms. Steedman's piece entitled, 'Stories of the Lake,' is a metal sculpture in the shape of Lake Huron, featuring a collage of photos, stories and paintings. It is the first piece from the Great Arts for Great Lakes project to be unveiled.

"I was thrilled with the number of contributions from the community for the project. People shared bits of history, culture, their concerns over the environment, and some great family stories," Ms. Steedman told The Expositor. "I spent a great deal of time putting the stories together; for some I created watercolour maps that link the stories to the locations around the lake. I think the community can be proud of this community art piece, as it really is a show of their connection and love for Lake Huron."

Community art pieces will also be installed in Toronto, Aamjiwnaang First Nation, Thunder Bay and Kingston. Each community hosted public events to introduce their commissioned artists who will collaboratively create a permanent work of art to celebrate Canada's 150th birthday. The project is funded through the Canada 150 Fund and the Ontario Trillium Foundation.

Community of Christ celebrates its ‘faith journey’ this September

by Alicia McCutcheon

PROVIDENCE BAY—The Manitoulin Community of Christ Church is celebrating its storied past on the Island with a special week-end-long event in September and all are encouraged to attend.

Pastor Weston Leeson is the unofficial history keeper of the Community of Christ Church and spoke to The Expositor about its beginnings on Manitoulin.

The first church, then called the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, was built along Holiday Haven Road (as it is now called) near the shores of Lake Manitou in the Manitowaning area.

“It started in a family home in Clover Valley and then moved to Lake Manitou,” Pastor Leeson explained.

Missionaries, typically hailing from southwestern Ontario, first came to Manitoulin in 1898, including Missionary John Shields. Some of the first families who joined included the McGillis, Lockyer, Bryant, Coe, Vanzant and Corbett families.

The first baptized member of the church was Margaret Charlton on August 18, 1901 by a G.E. Tomlinson, missionary.

In 1907 the church branched out, starting a congregation in Little Current that year and eventually building a church in 1940. (The church was located on Campbell Street West in Little Current and when it was decommissioned as a church, was sold and transformed into a gym but later caught fire, in 2014, a result of the arson of the former curling club located next door.)

In 1908, a Sandfield group was formed and led by Pastor Gordon, meeting in homes in the community and in 1916, officially formed a congregation. Sandfield, Pastor Leeson noted, was unique in that many of its members came by boat, using Lake Manitou to help spread the word. The roads in and around Sandfield at the time were little more than carriage trails, so boat was a more convenient method of travel.

One year later, in 1917, a Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints congregation was formed in the Slash area of Assiginack Township. The first missionary in the Slash was Elder R. Howlett.

“Brother Howlett went through many hardships, for example having many rotten eggs thrown at him,” a history of the Slash branch states. “At that time, travelling was difficult as the Slash was a newly settled area. Roads were scarce and horse and wagon or walking were the only means of travel. Brother Howlett was known to have taken off his shoes and wade through water in order to visit homes.”

In 1921, many members of the Sandfield branch moved to Providence years,” Pastor Leeson said. “We’re not asking for people to come back to church, but to recognize their family’s history in it.”

The celebrations get underway on Friday, September 8 with registration, finger foods, music and entertainment at the Providence Bay Hall. Saturday, September 9 will begin with a breakfast from 8 to 10 am at the curling club with a worship service getting underway at 11 am in the hall followed by lunch in the hall. After lunch, head to the nearby Community of Christ Church for a walk through the Community of Christ’s Island history. On Sunday, August 10 there will be another breakfast followed by a worship service, lunch and a blessing for the journey home.

Registrants are asked to pay $50 which includes food for the weekend.

Camp fYrefly offers workshops for Island LGBTQ2S youth

by Robin Burrridge
WHITEFISH RIVER—Mnaamodzawin Health Services hosted Camp fYrefly at Rainbow Lodge in Whitefish River earlier this month, a national leadership retreat for LGBTQ2S youth.

“The camp was founded in 2004 by Dr. Andre Grace and Dr. Kristopher Wells and is designed to help youth develop the leadership skills and personal resiliency necessary for them to become agents for positive change in their schools, families and communities,” the camp website notes. “Camp fYrefly exists because caring adults believe that all youth are entitled to a world that embraces diversity rather than fearing it. fYrefly stands for fostering, youth resiliency, energy, fun, leadership, yeah!”

“The camp was started at the University of Alberta and aimed to help foster mental and physical health for LGBTQ2S youth,” explained Anya Gwynne, Camp fYrefly coordinator. “The model for the camp is based on peer to peer engagement and encourages the development of one’s whole self.”

Mnaamodzawin Community Health Nurse Kelly Bayer learned of Camp fYrefly and reached out to the coordinators to bring the camp to the Manitoulin area.

“We provided a workshop on queer sex education with the whole group to discuss important things like consent and relationships,” explained Ms. Bayer. “There were also workshops on: gender constellations, which is charting experiences of gender in a narrative chart; Queer Can Lit, which looked at passages of Canadian books written by queer Indigenous writers; an anxiety workshop with felting/creating small worry balls while discussing strategies around dealing with stress; ask a trans man, which all youth chose, which was run by two trans youth discussing what their transition journey was like and how to navigate the medical system; and lantern making, an impromptu crafting activity where the group discussed things that bring us light in our lives while make glow in the dark lanterns.”

Ontario Camp Director Spencer Harrison explained that while the camp has been held in western Canada for several years, 2017 marks the camp’s expansion to Ontario.

Providence Bay News and Notes

Cheryl Sheppard and Maureen Eadie have returned from a two week vacation abroad. They flew to London, England and met up with former resident Tim McFarlane and husband Maciek Zielinski along with some of their friends Yvonne and Marcus Franceschin who have plans to visit our part of the world in September. While in London, the ladies visited Windsor Castle and saw the changing of the guards. They also saw Buckingham Palace, Trafalgar Square the Parliament buildings, Big Ben and then crossed the crosswalk at Abbey Road following in the footsteps of The Beatles and saw many other sights. They took a turn around on the London Eye giant ferriswheel and went to the theatre production of ‘Bat Out of Hell’ featuring the music of Meatloaf. After leaving London, they conquered the task of learning to drive on the wrong side of the road and drove north into Scotland and went to the Isle of Skye and the Loch Ness before boarding a plane in Edinburgh, Scotland bound for Dublin, Ireland. While in Ireland, they visited the Cliffs of Moher, the Dingle Peninsula and Blarney Castle kissing the famous Blarney Stone which is said to imbue the person with the gift of eloquence (or Blarney).

Waterlution Great Art for Great Lakes held the unveiling of artist Julieanne Steedman’s community engagement outdoor sculpture entitled ‘Stories of the Lake’ at the Providence Bay Village Square on Friday, August 11. Afterwards, everyone enjoyed live music at the Mutchmor with both local craft breweries in attendance serving their brews.

The Providence Bay/Spring Bay Lions Club put up flag banners for the beautification of our town streets. Fourteen banners were erected beginning at the arena coming into town and adorning hydro poles down the main street to the beach parking area. They look fantastic and are a welcome addition to the village. Anyone wishing to donate to this project can contact any Lions Club member.

The annual Kagawong Lake Bass Fishing Derby was held again this past weekend. They held the fish fry and awards ceremony at the Providence Bay Community Centennial Hall on Sunday, August 13. Local band ‘The Islanders’ played and the beer gardens were a big hit. This is a wonderful fundraiser for The Starlight Children’s Foundation.

Enjoy a Historical Walk around the village with Lyle Dewar. This event is being held on August 17 at 1 pm. Meet at the Discovery Centre and learn the history of our village.

The Summer Concert Series hosted by Huron Island Time Ice Cream Shop will be having another outdoor concert on Thursday, August 17. This week’s entertainer is Trout Lily from Toronto. Trout Lily is Brent Barber and Joan Krygsman. They are an Ontario-based Canadian acoustic duo performing quirky roots, folk, classic and original music. Come on out and enjoy a fantastic evening of entertainment.

We’re really looking forward to the 133rd annual Providence Bay Fair being held this coming weekend. This year’s theme is ‘O Canada.’ Come on out and view the livestock after judging, the Heavy Horse Pull, the Light Horse Show, the Fair Ambassador Competition, and the Manitoulin Idol Show. You can also see what the vendors have for sale, check out the exhibitor’s hall to view prize winning vegetable, arts and crafts, woodworking, needlecraft, photography, foods and many other accomplishments celebrating rural life. There’s also a parade Saturday, live musical entertainment, children’s entertainment and a midway throughout the weekend as well as CMRC-sanctioned motocross races on Sunday.

Come on out and take part in our fair—it’s good, wholesome fun for the whole family.

Birthday wishes go out to Kat Jones who celebrates her birthday on August 21.

The annual Providence Bay/Spring Bay Corn and Rib fest is being held August 26. Tickets are advised in advance. Contact any Lions Club member for ticket information.

If there is anything that you would like to add to The Providence Bay News and Notes please let us know. You can contact Cheryl at 705-862-1613 or email: prov_chick@hotmail.com. Please make any submissions by 3 pm each Sunday.

See who will be named the 2017 Providence Bay Fair Ambassador this Friday

PROVIDENCE BAY—Four lovely young women will compete this Friday, August 18 to see who will be named the 2017 Providence Bay Fair Ambassador.

The fair ambassador competition is open to all permanent residents of Manitoulin Island, male or female, between the ages of 17 and 21. The contestants are judged by a panel of judges on personal presentation, community involvement and a prepared speech and an interview.

Michelle Campbell
Michelle Campbell is an 18-year-old resident of Mindemoya who enjoys spending time outdoors, volunteering, exploring the tourist sites on Manitoulin and spending time with her niece and nephew. She will be attending Nipissing University in September to study physical and health education.

A major influence in her life has been her mom because she is very hard working and can see the good in any bad situation.

Michelle's favourite thing about Manitoulin Island is the tight knit communities where everyone is friendly and willing to help.

Winning Providence Bay Fair Ambassador would mean so much to Michelle as she has watched the competition over the years, waiting for her chance to enter.

She would also be honoured to represent the Providence Bay Fair at the CNE Ambassador of the Fairs competition.

Michelle's sponsor is Campbell Construction.

Delaney Madore
Delaney Madore is a 17-year-old from Gore Bay who will be entering Grade 12 at Manitoulin Secondary School in September.

Her hobbies include swimming, hiking, fishing, hunting, dancing and spending time with friends and family.

Delaney's grandmothers are her role models as they were both strong, independent women who raised the two most important people in her life.

Delaney's favourite things about Manitoulin Island are the beautiful sights and the tight knit communities that make you feel like you are a part of a big family.

If Delaney is named the Ambassador of the Providence Bay Fair, she feels that it will be an awesome way to represent the amazing place where she lives.

She also feels that it would be a great way to honour the memories of her late grand-

Assignack Public Library Feature

by Debbie Robinson

‘Frozen in Time’ by Mitchell Zuckoff chronicles the stories of three planes—when a U.S. Cargo flight crashes in Greenland, their rescue plane that gets lost in a storm and also crashes and the second rescue plane that vanishes during another storm. This book is a captivating narrative of the courageous crewmen of these ill-fated aircraft. The struggle of the survivors to stay alive for 148 days in the savagely cold polar region is definitely an exciting read.

“A rose is a rose is a rose is a rose,” said writer Gertrude Stein, but flowers are now also a multi-million dollar business—a big business! Flowers are developed in labs, raised in factories, picked by machines and travel across wide oceans and massive continents to reach grocery stores and flower shops. In ‘Flower Confidential,’ author Amy Stewart investigates this ‘flowery’ path. Our flowers have been hybrid using technology to increase their monetary value and increase commerce. This is a book that flower lovers should read—it is quirky, entertaining and informative. You will never look at a bunch of posies the same way again.

‘The Abstinence Teacher’ by Tom Perrotta is a remarkable book. It is both smart and illuminating with a cast of memorable characters—and it is irresistibly funny. It is a comedic lampoon of suburb life that highlights neighbourly battles, modern living tensions and the complexity of both the devout and intimate lives of average folk.

‘The Brutal Telling’ is a novel by Canadian author Louise Penny. It is another Inspector Armand Gamache story and this time the intrepid inspector must solve a murder—with no weapon, no motive and no suspect. This makes the job almost impossible. Ms. Penny is truly a gift to the crime/mystery genre—come and check her books out—they are top notch and you will not be disappointed.

Young Adult Pick: ‘Clockwork Angel’ by Cassandra Clare.

DVD Pick: ‘Goonies’ starring Sean Astin, Corey Feldman and Josh Brolin—a great adventure with secret maps, pirates and treasure—a good family film!

There is free wireless access during Library hours, so bring your device of choice and join us (we also have two public computers available). See you at the Library!

Country Fest defies weather to bring in largest crowds to date

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—It was the worst of times, it was the best of times. Okay, it wasn't at all bad, in fact, once the early afternoon deluge and thunderstorm on Friday had faded into the horizon Manitoulin County Fest 2017 not only enjoyed great weather, the stellar lineup of acts headlined by Corb Lund, Dwight Yoakam and Joe Nichols and a constellation of some of the best country music stars in the business, such as Washboard Union, Michelle Wright and Wikwemkoong's own Anishnabe warbler Crystal Shawanda, as well as a host of solid established acts leavened with some up and coming talents, ensured that there was something to delight every one of the more than 9,000 people who attended.

By the time Mr. Yoakam took to the stage, the crowds extended across the Manitoulin Country Fest grounds almost to the very gates. Friday's attendance was easily the largest audience Manitoulin's premiere music festival has seen to date. As for the weather, it just kept getting better and better, defying the predictions of the weatherman and making a whole lot of country music fans very, very happy.

"It was a bit nerve wracking at the start, not so much because of the rain, country fans are a pretty resilient bunch, but the lightening early Friday did concern us," said organizer KT Timmermans. "But there were a lot of people praying for the weather to turn and that came through for us in spades, by the time Michelle Wright stepped onstage Friday evening the rain had stopped and it turned into a beautiful evening and you couldn't have asked for better weather the rest of the weekend."

"Craig and I, and all the staff down here at Country 103, are so very grateful to all of the fans who came out to share our love of country music, the musicians who shared their incredible talents with us and most especially for the many hardworking volunteers without whom we simply could not make this happen," Ms. Timmermans added.

"It has been a wonderful weekend and we encourage everyone to check in to our webpage to follow progress on the lineup for the 2018 Manitoulin Country Fest. We have proven that it is getting better with each and every year," she said.

The Country Music Fan Experience was won by Kathy Jewell (animal altruism clearly pays off, Ms. Jewell is very active with a Manitoulin animal rescue organization), while Jake's 'Best Seats in the House' was won by Ron Harris of Massey/Webbwood. The Best Dressed RV contest was won by Lori Millsap of Evansville. If you didn't win any of those prizes, don't despair, there is still time to purchase tickets on the amazing Epiphone Sunburst guitar that was on display at the site (signed by every artist—except Dwight Yoakam). The draw date for the guitar is September 30 and tickets are available at the Country 103 office beside The Expositor on Water Street in Little Current, at Community Living Espanola or from any of its board members.

Although an exhausted, but smiling, KT and Craig Timmermans said they were very pleased with the success of the event, Ms. Timmermans did express one regret. "We are so busy throughout the weekend that we don't have time to really sit down and enjoy the music ourselves," she laughed ruefully. Hopefully accompanying the winner of the Country Music Fan Experience to the Country Music Association Awards will compensate for that.

Visiting Manitoulin?

Tehkummah Township: a pastoral panorama

by Isobel Harry TEHKUMMAH—With the ferry the focus, passengers coming to and leaving Manitoulin Island often drive or cycle right through the village of South Baymouth to points beyond, blithely unaware of the pastoral paradise that is the Township of Tehkummah. Oh, there are lodges and camps, campsites, trailer parks, tipis, resorts and bed and breakfasts, restaurants from all day-breakfast to fish and chips, fine dining and sunset dinner cruises, shops and art galleries galore and countless natural attractions from fishing to dark sky astronomy and horseback riding. But what we're after this trip is a peek behind the scenes into the countryside of Manitoulin's most southerly township, a quiet, scenic outpost on the east side of the Island.

In South Baymouth—a great starting point—on Patricia Hall (centre), known to all as Pat, has published two collections of her poems: 'A Fragile Thread' (2013) and 'Mind Storms and New Beginnings' (2016). Loretta Mucha (left), curator, and Phillip DeBruin, summer intern, welcome the author to the Little Schoolhouse Museum.

this summer day, the grounds of the Little Schoolhouse Museum host the Tehkummah Fire Department's (TFD) annual barbecue, yard and bake sale to raise funds for equipment to keep the 25 volunteer firefighters (including 15 first aid responders), three trucks, an ambulance and two water pumpers operating at peak efficiency. Community folks and visitors browse the bargains while munching offerings from the grill and the bake table, pausing only to watch the majestic entry of the Chi-Cheemaun into port.
In the Museum, among the photos of early settlers, mills and the fishing industry, are displays of farming tools, a hundred-year-old 'Log Cabin' quilt, the community's first telephone switchboard, and artifacts of WWI and WWII donated by local veterans' families. The adjacent 'little schoolhouse' was built first as a church in 1891 before being converted to a school in 1898; the authentically furnished classroom seems as though it was in use just yesterday, blackboards cleaned and wood-stove ready for a new school day.

Local author Patricia Hall (better known as Pat around these parts) is here with her two volumes of poetry, 'A Fragile Thread' (2013) and 'Mind Storms and New Beginnings' (2016), chatting with the curator of the Little Schoolhouse Museum, Loretta Mucha, and summer intern Phillip DeBruin; both Ms Hall and Ms. Mucha attended the school next door. Pat Hall has lived in the little nearby village of Tehkummah since 1947 when her family (her dad was born on Manitoulin) moved here from BC. She has been the Tehkummah correspondent for this newspaper "for about 35 years," hand-writing her widely-read 'Tehkummah Talk and Times' weekly column, chatty anecdotes of animal sightings, drives around the township and of euchre games, lunches and concerts at the Community Hall. Her mom (who will be 101 years old in November) features in daily card games and meals out at favorite local haunts, as do locals and their comings and goings, their visitors, their joys and trials. "I've met so many people through my column," says the lifelong writer. "Readers contact me all the time. When I was ill last year, I received 340 get-well cards!"

We decide to take in some of Pat Hall's beloved home turf of Tehkummah on this iffy-weather sort of day that suddenly has become Manitoulin-summer-perfect. Sailing past South Baymouth's plentiful offerings (saving those for another day), we cruise a little way up Highway 6 to Lakeshore Road. "Here," says Ms. Hall, "are my Secret Gardens." All along this road is a profusion of pink and white sweet pea flowers everywhere, climbing up grasses and trees and clinging to rocks and shrubs, perfuming the air

Tehkummah Talk and Times

If you are trying to phone me let the phone ring a bit, I usually get there and they hang up. I'm not one of those who carries a phone booth on my back, and if I'm sitting down by the time I struggle to my feet, and waddle to the phone, or sometimes I'm sitting outside, and my answering machine is activated these days (sometimes, I even say bad words you could learn, if you waited!)

Well Liz Greer, you have done it again! Congratulations on a terrific evening of enjoyment, of talent and food.

Thank you to all who made our day! Loved those utensils!

We went down later, to the ferry and watched boat traffic. I've sure seen the "Cheech" a lot this year in her new design. I like watching the little kids excitement most of them in jammies this time of night they usually jump, I do too, when she blows her horn.

One of the nicer days Wednesday; balmy even in the beautiful moonlight.

I've had a busy one, not working though. Cribbage eight tables, delicious lunch today, thank you all.

We had two high hands, 24s, Graham and Rick; first place, Graham and Sheila, 949; second, Mary and Jean, 945; third, Sandra and Doris, 943; low, Lori and Rick; door winners of the wooden heart.

I heard folks talking about the hillbilly steak supper, I hadn't been for years. So, a huge mouth watering steak turned over once, cooked perfectly. Baked potatoes, baked beans, coleslaw, strawberry and ice cream dessert. Worth every penny and then some. A silent auction going on at the same time. A wonderful musical treat as the Islanders did their stuff. Sounds wonderful out door. I met Pat and Herrman Falte. Lovely personable young granddaughter Nicole who has been on holidays from her London home to Sudbury and the Island. From there I went to Sandfield euchre. I remember Irene James won the 50/50 but I can't recall who won the games.

Good to say hello to Glenna Harrison. She was at the store on Wednesday spending visiting time with Susan Dusting too?? Thursday at the same place; I saw Brent and Debbie Quackenbush (Brent said 30 years since he'd been in the store.) Melissa their daughter and two younger generation, One was a busy little bee!

...Tehkummah Township: a pastoral panorama with a mystery at its heart

...continued from page 5A with an indescribable sweet scent. “A Mr. Jackson had property near here with a beautiful garden where he planted sweet peas, so many they eventually overran the place and have become wild,” marvels Pat as we breathe in this legacy of sensory delights.

Concession roads may seem a bit of a maze to the visitor in Tehkummah, its gently hilly terrain, forest-lined bends and lazy curves a far cry from grid-style road layouts. In any case, it’s far preferable to ditch the GPS here and just follow all your senses around, like Pat Hall, appreciating the spectacular flora, fauna, and undulating views along the way.

The village of Tehkummah proper is home to the Fire Department, Community Hall (also known as the Seniors’ Hall), Municipal Hall, Library and Post Office. The much-loved R.A. Ward’s Store has been here since 1922, the interior looking exactly as it did then, supplying dry goods, gas and groceries as the community’s general store for almost a century, still run by the founder’s descendants.

Tehkummah Township is traversed by the Manitou River and the Blue Jay Creek, both successful rehabilitation projects of the Manitoulin Streams Improvement Association (www.manitoulinstreams.com), restoring these critical resources and their fish populations. The meandering paths of the water, babbling brooks in some spots and still pools in others, create the most bucolic vistas imaginable.

We’ve come to Michael’s Bay Road, off Government Road, where Pat Hall used to come as a child to pick wild strawberries and play by the falls beside the old ‘ghost town’ site of Michael’s Bay. Here, in 1867, on the site of a former Odawa settlement that dates to the 15th century, there was a prolific mill that cut and shipped millions of feet of pine, squared timbers and lath. A lighthouse was constructed in 1870 and a town plan laid out in 1879 for the population that would grow to several hundred souls by the mid-1880s.

The whole town burned in 1914, razing the mill and the homes and businesses to the ground. All that is left today of this former boomtown is a large expanse of flat field next to the falls where the mill was, now almost totally hidden by large trees. Ms. Hall points to wild asparagus that pops up every few feet. While this is an overgrown, unremarkable piece of land, there is an undefinable feeling to this place, of those who came before, a sense of the excitement of the lumber boom, the bust years that followed and of the ultimate tragic fire.

In a complicated series of events involving foreign investment and divestment, ably documented over the years by this newspaper, the Michael’s Bay Historical Society (MBHS) persists in its mandate “to preserve the history and artifacts for all citizens and visitors to enjoy and to educate others about Manitoulin’s first permanent settlement. The goal,” reads an entry on Wikipedia (MBHS will soon have a website), “is to protect the town site, which includes several cemeteries, from commercial or residential development.”

Michael’s Bay became a very busy lumber port by the mid-1880s, with a population of several hundred; several cemeteries have been uncovered since the town burned to the ground in 1914, including this Methodist burial ground on Michael’s Bay Road.

Efforts by the Township of Tehkummah and the Michael’s Bay Historical Society to acquire the town site land are ongoing—it is now under the auspices of the Federal Government and outstanding Anishinaabe land claims must be settled.

For now, the old ‘ghost town’ site is closed to public access; the Municipal Park and boat launch on the left down Michael’s Bay Road give an idea of the expanse of the bay. It is possible, however, to visit one of the five cemeteries in Michael’s Bay that have been identified by the MBHS. A Methodist burial ground is signed on the right on Michael’s Bay Road; in the leafy glade small white crosses blooming in the dense ground cover mark the 43 graves that were found here. The mystery of Michael’s Bay is experienced viscerally, deep in the heart of Tehkummah, a moving remembrance of the past that merits consideration in the present to safeguard its future.

Patricia Hall’s books are available at the Rock & Rail (Mindemoya), Ward’s Store (Tehkummah) and at the Huron Lodge motel and the Little Schoolhouse Museum (South Baymouth).

The Little Schoolhouse Museum is open daily, 9:30 am to 4:30 pm, from May to October. Telephone 705-859-3663. ‘Michael’s Bay: The Rise and Fall of Manitoulin’s Forgotten Town’ by Derek Russell is available here, as are original survey maps of the town.

The Michael’s Bay Historical Society meetings on the second Thursday of each month are open to the public.

try blend, his song writing of course, and the acoustic “Lazy 7” brought a tear or two. Life! And its challenges Kim and Kathy picked me up, the weather co-operated beautifully and that sunset sent a blessing down with its rays.
Mum and I went to Garden Shed for breakfast. Bev, Richard and their youngest daughter Laura and Carly were enjoying the morning. Carly is staying with them and working in Little Current.
The Canada 15 Girls brightened up the site of Countryfest. Told us to wear red and white, but it turned into a sea of blue, green, white and yellow raingear. The dyed in the wool Countryfest lovers are not deterred by a little dampness, thunder and lightening and water depth and mud! We lucked out with our/ my handicap sticker but the parking seemed iffy. Thanks Loretta, but the people and the campers and the wet, I’ll bet, tents! The entertainment was wonderful with the east coast roots Jessica Pearson Western Swing Authority was great (singing in the storm) Meghan Patrick lovely voice and style. Michelle Wright couldn’t believe it was 8/9 years. Dwight Yoakam, we got your mon-eyes worth and more. What super back up musicians and busy stage hands, constantly changing the musical instruments?

I’ll bet all the girls were upset by Dwights long shirt-tail! It didn’t do his shimmy justice! Oh yes Kim and Kathy won free passes to next years Countryfest!
I liked all the music that didn’t drown out the singer’s voices. I guess I’m just an old country girl at heart (old being the definitive word!) Mikaila Cooper, Nicole Rayy and the Lovelocks great voices/song-writing, David James, Chris Buck Band, Crystal Shawanda. I didn’t know who Joe Nichols was until I heard the songs and I found I’d already been singing them. I liked his humble caring way! Love his voice. Good voice imitator too. Fireworks top notch! Congratulations KT, family and crew and all those volunteers! You done it again, thank you.

When I got home after Countryfest I found a note from Lance and Theresa (Mollie’s son) from Toronto area. So early this A.M. found me, Mum, Susan and Simon sharing a visit and breakfast at Garden Shed.

A lovely surprise, and wonderful to see them, a year ago this day was Mum’s celebration at the hall for her 100th birthday and when we last saw Lance and Theresa here on the Island. After church I hurried to the ferry to give one more hug and to save money on stamps heading west. Well 2 bucks is 2 bucks!
Corrine travelled with me to church. She arrived last evening, meeting up with Pat Novak in London, and travelling together. Pat was there with Michelle for the birth of her first grandchild and spent some introductory/ bonding time with Marie.

Sympathy to the family of Bev Maguire, thinking of you all!
We went to Carol’s and Earl’s and sat with Mary Yett, Burt and Audrey Case. I checked with Mum, she didn’t want to go to Green Acres. Stopped at Cal’s, he refused too. So poor lonely me, well not for too long, Derek and Jodi, Tory, Amelia, great-grands Desmond and Declan. Pauline and Wayne, Sherry, Dave, Susan, Ray, Tara, Skylar a bit of family near each other camping. It’s such a beautiful spot, we were watching a Herring Gull dive for dinner, yes, and I stayed for dinner too! I drove to South Baymouth and again counted cars off and on the last ferry. Before I came home to write finish this long column, almost.

Don’t forget: Sunday, August 20, church at Fairview United, celebrating it’s 120th Anniversary, 11:30am. Pot luck at the Tehkummah Hall following the service.

Way to banner, Lions!

The Providence Bay /Spring Bay Lions were hard at it installing banners around Providence Bay on Saturday, just in time for the fair. Don’t forget that the Lions’ annual Corn and Rib Fest will be held Saturday, August 26 at 4 pm at the Providence Bay Arena!
